BALLOON ROOM—The need for a super-clean room for assembly of guidance and control systems at the Salt Lake City, Utah, plant of Litton Industries, was solved by draping a plastic swimming pool cover over the entire 24x45-foot assembly area. A small blower provides air to keep the "balloon room" inflated.

Years-old records fell with the mercury today as one of the district's severest winter snaps of this century clutched the area before it had time to dig out of Wednesday's snowstorm.

District residents, who shudder at frequent 20-below-zero reports from such places as Duluth, Minn., and Bismarck, N. D., did a double take when they read their own thermometers this morning.

The temperature hit an official low of -19 last night, Edwin Cope-land, Millport weather observer, reported, setting an all-time record in the area for this day. By 11 a.m. it had risen to only -9.

The lowest official point ever reached by the mercury in the area was -20 on Jan. 8, 1942, Cope-land said. Temperatures dropped to a biting -18 on Jan. 25, 1961, he declared.

Last night's unofficial low was recorded at the Salem disposal plant, usually one of the coldest spots in the state, where the mercury skidded to -27 between 3 and 5 a.m. Other areas also reported lows in the -20's.

Bone-Chilling Cold Follows Snow

The bone-chilling cold, following on the heels of Wednesday's heavy snow which clogged roads and marooned farmers, caused almost all district schools to close. Hundreds of motorists awoke to find their car frozen. Taxi cab firms were swamped with calls from stranded motorists, and some operated as much as an hour behind schedule.

The Salem News office received numerous calls from anxious parents inquiring whether schools would hold classes today. A number of business establishments opened late and operated with skeleton forces until late stragglers arrived.

Only Salem and Columbiana schools within a radius of 20 miles of Salem held classes. Most of the rural schools were shut down because buses failed to start.

Among schools closed were those in Lisbon, Leetonia, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Wells-ville, and all county rural schools (Beaver Local, Fairfield - Waterford, Southern Local and United Local). West Branch schools in Mahoning County were also closed, as were those in the Western Reserve district (Berlin Center and Ellsworth) north of Salem.

School Attendance Sharply Curtailed

Attendance at Salem public schools, St. Paul's Catholic School here and Columbiana schools was sharply curtailed as many parents refused to send their children out in the numbing cold.

Salem School Supt. Paul E. Smith said attendance at city schools was down 30 to 40 per cent, compared with the average absenteeism of five to seven per cent.

Smith said two school buses failed to start in time to bring students to class this morning but were operational later in the day.

Effects of Wednesday's snow still hampered movement of traffic in the district. John (Dick) Neill, county highway superintendent, said no roads were reported closed, but traffic on some was restricted to a single lane.

Neil said all of the department's snow plows and ash trucks were in operation. Winds continued to pile drifts on many roads, he said.

Mayr Dean B. Cranmer pressed all available service department personnel into action last night, plowing and cinderling streets.

At the Courthouse in Lisbon the gas automatically shut off after the temperature dropped to -10, freezing water pipes and forcing employees who reported for work this morning to wear heavy coats.

The gas furnaces were equipped with cut-off mechanisms designed to shut off when the temperature fell below zero.

Heater, after driving on several side streets in Lisbon, finally turned west on W. Lincoln Way. He attempted to turn right at high speed onto N. Morton

JFK Asks Congress To Order $3.2 Billion Tax Cut In '63

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy urged Congress today to cut taxes by $3.2 billion this year as the first step toward an eventual 18 per cent slash in the average American's tax bill.

Setting forth the long-awaited details of his ambitious and controversial tax program in a 12,500-word special message, Kennedy asked that the 1963 cuts be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

However, the pocketbook effect on individuals would only come if and when a new tax law was enacted and employers began withholding less tax money from paychecks. Kennedy assumes, perhaps optimistically, that this can be done by July 1.

Proposed tax savings, to be parceled out over a three-year period, would go as high as 39 per cent for nearly 10 million low-income house-holders. At the upper end of the income scale, the average cut would be 9 per cent. The Kennedy program, aimed at squirting fiscal adrenalin into the economic bloodstream, would combine $13.6 billion of individual and corporate rate cuts with $3.4 billion of revenue-raising changes in time-honored special tax benefits. The net tax reduction thus would be $10.2 billion.

In seeking revision of benefit provisions, Kennedy called for the most sweeping overhaul of the basic tax law in more than 20 years. His proposals would affect itemized deductions, oil depletion allowances, capital gains taxes, sick pay benefits and a variety of other entrenched items claiming strong support.

Plugging for early action on this, his top priority legislation for the year, Kennedy said: "Our economy is checkreined today by a war-born tax system at a time when it is far more in need of the spur than the bit." And he said his program represents the very spur needed to boost employment, put more money into circulation and, eventually, put enough revenue into the federal Treasury to balance the soaring budget.

Even so, the package will face certain opposition from some Congress members who shrink from the idea of cutting taxes at a time of mounting budget deficits.

In addition, the program was just as certain to rile backers of the special tax benefits that Kennedy would repeal or revise.

But all along the line, the President obviously had made an effort to more than offset the bitter

Board Action Also Includes Staff

Morton Ousted As Football Coach

Salem Senior High School Football Coach Blaine Morton has been relieved of his coaching duties, Supt. Paul E. Smith disclosed today.

Morton, who is a history instructor at Salem High, was notified yesterday of the decision of the Board of Education to have him give up his coaching responsibilities.

The superintendent said that school board had been weighing the matter for several months and finally reached an unanimous decision to seek another coach.

Total Program Considered

"We base our decision on the best interests of the total athletic program at Salem Senior High School," said Supt. Smith. "We believe it best that Coach Morton and his staff of assistants be replaced. The staff includes Assistant Bob Martin, Merlin Davidson, Michael Guappone, and Bob Miller."

Morton is paid $1,000 extra for coaching football, in addition to his regular $6,900 pay as a teacher.

Morton is in his third year as head football coach at Salem High. In 1960, when he succeeded Coach Earle Bruce, now at Sandusky, his Salem High Quakers posted a season record of nine

Ratifications Of Dock Strike Pact Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediation machinery was thrown into high gear today to get more union and industry ratifications of the formula for settling the 33-day-old Atlantic and Gulf coasts dock strike.

Hope was expressed along the waterfronts that some shipping might be resumed before the weekend. But even after the strike is settled, it would take a few days for such major ports as New York to get back to normal.

Several speedy approvals of the peace pact were reported on the North Atlantic Coast, and more appeared imminent.

A union spokesman said here Wednesday night: "We would be very much surprised if the membership didn't go along with the recommendation of the (union) wage scale

French-German Pact Criticized

U.S. Claims Attempt To Recapture Past

WASHINGTON (AP)—Worried U.S. officials claim that French President Charles de Gaulle is trying to turn back the clock of history with his plan to unify Western Europe under French leadership without close British and American ties.

The main thrust of U.S. diplomacy within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in coming months, informants said, will be directed toward trying to prevent the new De Gaulle agreement with German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer from becoming the basis for a European system dominated by France.

President Kennedy faces the delicate problem at his news conference late today of making clear the U.S. position on the allied situation without hardening the split in the alliance if he can avoid it.

At the same time it is understood that he wants to leave no doubt in the minds of European leaders opposed to De Gaulle's aims that they have full U.S. support in trying to create a different kind of Europe.

While the State Department declined comment Wednesday on the Adenauer-De Gaulle treaty for French-German cooperation just concluded in Paris, Kennedy and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball welcomed the opportunity to pay tribute Wednesday night to another French leader, Jean Monnet. He has worked for many years for European unity set within a partnership with the United States.

Akronite Appointed To State Safety Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Rhodes administration announced two more appointments today, naming Charles A. Burns of Akron assistant director of the Department of Highway Safety and Donald V. Lombardo of Columbus assistant registrar and supervisor of personnel in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Sam B. Nicola, 49, of Upper Arlington was appointed secretary of the Utilities Commission late Wednesday.

Burns will be No. 1 aide to Highway Safety Director Warren (Bud) Nelson. Burns, 57, worked as an examiner in the Division of Highway Audits from 1956 until early this month when Gov. James A. Rhodes was state auditor.

Lombardo, 47, will serve under Motor Vehicles Registrar David Mainwaring. He has been an administrative supervisor for 10 years in the Division of Liquor Audits under Rhodes.

Ohio Bell to Expand Here

To Spend $150,000
For Improvements

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will spend $150,000 in expansion and service improvement at its Salem exchange in 1963, Company President Frederick R. Eckley announced today.

Salem Commercial Manager W. J. McKay explained that routine growth projects will account for the major portion of the company's spending plans in Columbiana County this year. About $38,000 has been allocated for outside aerial and underground cable expansion and about $40,000 for increased dial equipment capacity at the various exchange buildings.

McKay said that much of Ohio Bell's efforts during 1963 will be geared toward modernization that will enable the company to provide the utmost in up-to-date communications services for business and industry.

"This attention to business communication, of course, will not conflict with our effort to keep pace with the growth and needs of the residential customer," McKay added.

Last year saw a gain of 590 telephones in northern Columbiana County exchanges, he said. Salem added 240; Columbiana showed a gain of 130; East Palestine, 95; Leetonia, 35; Lisbon, 40; New Waterford, 30, and Rogers, 20. The company expects to add about 525 more phones in these exchanges this year.

The steady growth in the number of telephones in service also

E. Liverpool Mayor Seeks New Term

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet of East Liverpool filed Wednesday afternoon with the County Election Board to seek Democratic nomination for a third term at the May 7 primaries.

His filing raised to 40 the number officially entered from seven cities and villages. Goodballet announced Dec. 20 he would seek a new term.

Two others have announced for the Democratic nomination for mayor in East Liverpool. Councilman Frank Duffy and Clifford J. Cooper, former First Ward councilman.

Meanwhile, City Auditor Edgar S. Davidson of Wellsville announced he will file today for the Republican nomination for a second full term.

Soviets Working Fast, Reports Say

New Arms Buildup In Cuba Is Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse has ordered in immediate Senate investigation into reports of a new round-the-clock Soviet military buildup in Cuba.

State Department officials will be the first to appear before the Oregon Democrat's Latin-American Affairs subcommittee when the inquiry gets under way Saturday.

A massive Soviet arms buildup in Cuba last year precipitated a major East-West crisis. But following an agreement with President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev ordered the removal of offensive missiles and jet bombers and tensions eased.

Since then the administration has maintained a reassuring attitude. Just two weeks ago Secretary of State Dean Rusk was quoted as having told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he was convinced all Soviet missiles and bombers classed as offensive had been removed.

By contrast, that very day Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., contended that Prime Minister Fidel Castro is "10 times better equipped" militarily than he was last spring.

The new flurry over Soviet arms in Cuba was capped Wednesday by a New York Times news service report that the Soviet Union is building "highly sophisticated ground and air defenses in Cuba."

The gist of the Times story: Soviet encampments are being relocated and strengthened and Soviet experts are directing Cubans in the construction of underground depots, hangars and runways.

Asked about the reports, State and Defense Department informants said military construction in Cuba is proceeding at a normal pace and is defensive in character.

Keating said, however, he has information "confirmed by official government sources" that Soviet weapons have been pouring into Cuba.

Fire Damages Residence Near Lisbon

LISBON — An undetermined amount of damage was caused when fire gutted a utility room and a bathroom and scorched the kitchen, bedroom and living room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carlisle, Saltwell Rd., about a half mile southeast of Logtown, Wednesday at 11:25 a.m., according to village firemen.

An oil heater reportedly exploded while Carlisle was at the nearby home of Paul Morris, his father-in-law, to call a furnace repair man. When Carlisle emerged from the Morris home, he saw his house on fire and asked Mrs. Morris to call the fire department.

Carlisle lauded the firefighters, who, he said, did an efficient job in extinguishing the blaze which

State Legislature Considers Measures on Unemployment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Should an unemployed Ohioan be required to be "actively seeking work" to qualify for jobless benefits, or should he be able to register by mail?

These widely divergent views were before the legislature today in two House bills as lawmakers prepared to end their third work week.

Backers of the "actively seeking work" point of view insist that the pre-1959 provision go back into the law. The "register by mail" group feels workers have earned their benefits and should be entitled to draw them from anywhere.

Employers assert that some of their former employees are drawing benefits against their accounts from such sun-drenched spots as Florida and Hawaii. This they regard as unfair to the spirit of the unemployment compensation law.

Generally, employers are seeking to restore the restrictions on collection of unemployment benefits which prevailed before the Democratic General Assembly liberalized them in 1959.

As hearings on Sunday closing law changes move into their third day today, the House has before it still a third proposal—one to permit Sunday operation of family-operated stores and farm produce stands. Earlier bills would expand the list of merchandise which could be sold on Sunday or give each community local option on the entire problem.

Wednesday's relatively brief Senate session was spiced by a Republican-Democratic preliminary debate on state finances.

Dog Refuses To Leave Bed of Dead Master

SUN VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Authorities have given up attempts to lure Tippy, a mongrel dog, from the bed of his dead 4-year-old master.

The dog was the only survivor Wednesday of a fire which killed his owner, Hayes Eaton Jr., and the boy's mother, Barbara Eaton, 35. Both suffocated.

Mrs. Eaton's husband, Hayes, a bartender, was at work when the fire broke out in their two bedroom home.

After the fire, Tippy, jumped up on the boy's bed. He was lured away once but he came back. Repeated efforts by firemen and neighbors to keep him away failed.

INVESTMENTS ANNOUNCED

MARION, Ohio (AP)—General Telephone Co. of Ohio's investments will average about $1,000 for each of the 12,000 more telephones it hopes to gain this year, officials say.

In announcing proposed investments of $12.3 million in capital construction this year, the company said it will reach 100 per cent dial service by converting 14 manual exchanges in Southern Ohio.

The old Brockenbrough mansion in Richmond, Va., was known as the "White House of the Confederacy." It was bought for the use of Jefferson Davis and his family during the Civil War.

33 New Tuberculosis Cases Reported In County In '62

A total of 33 new cases of tuberculosis were reported in Columbiana County during 1962, Dr. F. G. Kravec of Youngstown, director of the county's tuberculosis clinic in the Courthouse at Lisbon, reports.

During the year 17 persons were admitted and six re-admitted to hospitals. Of these, five were later diagnosed as non-TB cases. There were 26 discharged with medical advice, four without and there expired leaving 18 tuberculosis patients still in hospitals. Eight patients died during the year.

A total of 1,613 individuals were X-rayed. There are 167 cases (45 active and 122 inactive) on the county TB register, with 146 receiving medication on a home care basis.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS established the central TB clinic in 1949. The services are financed by a .40-mill countywide tuberculosis levy, renewed every five years. The funds are administered by the commissioners, who also appoint the clinic director, but the operation was placed into the hands of the Columbiana County Health Board two years ago.

Dr. Kravec meets with the clinic staff each Thursday for reading of the chest X-rays, consultations with patients and therapy. He also makes recommendations for medical followups and hospitalization at various sanatoriums. He read 1,613 X-rays last year and gave 116 consultations.

OF THE CASES reported last year, 13 were active when found and 810 were inactive.

The nurses gave 802 Mantoux skin tests during the year, with 148 showing positive and followed by chest X-rays.

"These services are provided for the sole purpose of bringing the tuberculosis problem in our county under better control, and

Home Nursing Service Nurse Reports 1,015 Visits In '62

Mrs. Augusta Ibele, R. N., who performs services offered by the Salem Home Nursing Service, reported at the annual meeting of the agency that last year she made a total of 1,015 visits to provide nursing services and consultation for patients confined to their homes and for crippled children.

The meeting was held Tuesday at the Red Cross office.

Mrs. Ibele also had a number of speaking engagements during the year, conducted classes in home nursing, assisted with the Red Cross blood bank and participated in community health services and activities.

The financial statement revealed a total income of $5,056 for the year. The Salem United Fund provided $3,300 toward the amount and the Salem Rotary Club contributed $825 for service provided to crippled children who receive assistance through the Easter Seal Crippled Children's program. The balance of $933 was derived from payments made by patients for nursing services.

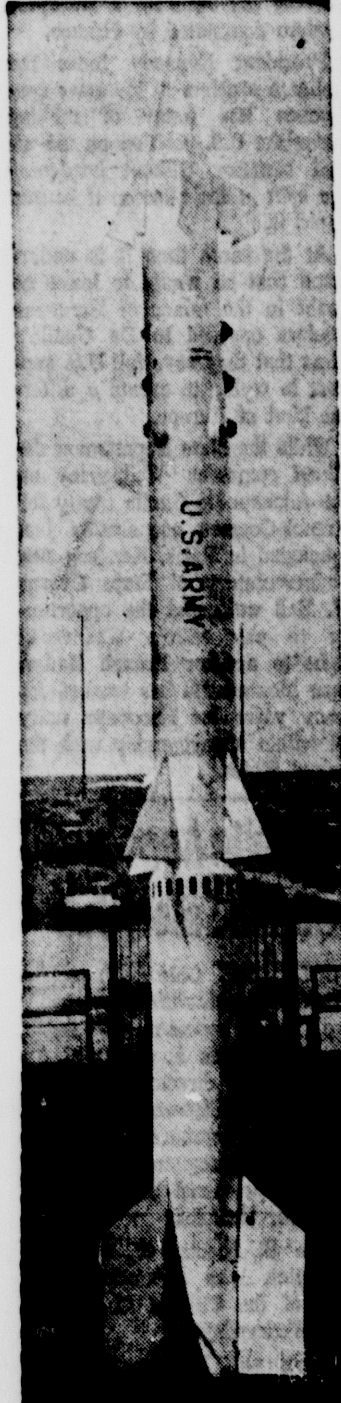

Services provided by the agency are free for all patients unable to pay for care. Operating expenses for the year totaled $4,094.81, including the nurse's salary, auto expense, insurance and supplies.

James T. Schaeffer and Mrs. Carl McConnor were elected to the Board of Trustees by members of the Association. Other trustees are Atty. South Metzger, Robert S. McCulloch, Jr., Orein A. Naragon, Mrs. George Kyle, Rev. Arthur Brown, Miss Katherine Gibson, John E. Rance, Mrs. George Emeny and Albert R. Hanna.

At the reorganization meeting of the board of trustees, Atty. Metzger and Mr. Hanna were re-elected as president and vice-president respectively. Miss Katherine Gibson was elected secretary to replace Mrs. Thomas Howett who recently moved with her husband to Elizabethville in the Congo. Mr. Naragon was re-named treasurer.

Many Rules Govern the Claiming Of Dependents On Tax Returns

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are many rules relating to exemptions for dependents in filing your federal income tax return. This article, fourth in a series, tells you how you can and cannot claim as a dependent.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exemptions are money saved in filing your 1962 income tax return. Each one you can claim means $600 subtracted from your income before what's left is taxable.

Besides the $600 exemption allowed each person filing a return, you get a $600 exemption for each dependent.

Husband-wife exemptions were explained in article No. 3 of this series. A wife is not a dependent. Who is? There are a lot of rules on that.

They differ for different kinds of dependents.

You would not, for instance, get an extra $600 exemption for a dependent because he was 65 or blind as you would for yourself or wife if you or she were 65 or blind.

You can claim your child as a dependent if he was born or died in 1962 (but not a stillborn child) if you contributed to more than half his support in that part of 1962 in which he was alive.

One of the key points—in claiming your child, stepchild or adopted child as a dependent—is age 19.

If he was under 19, and you paid more than half his support, you can claim him as a dependent no matter how much income he had.

If he was 19, and had $600 or more income, you couldn't claim him as a dependent, even though you contributed to more than half his support, unless he was a full-time student.

He's not considered a full-time student if he had a regular or part-time job or went to night school or took a correspondence course.

But suppose your dependent under-19 child or your over-19 child who qualified as a student dependent had $600 or more income. Then what?

He'd file his own return, taking his own $600 exemption and paying any tax owed. But on your return you could claim a $600 exemption. He would have to report or include his income.

You can — in addition to your child, step child or adopted child — claim the following relatives as dependents if they fit the rules given later:

Your grandchild, great-grandchild, and so on; your brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister; your parent, grandparent or great-grandparent, or other direct ancestor but not a foster parent; your stepmother or stepfather; your aunt or uncle, meaning a brother or sister of your mother or father; your niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; your father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, or sister-in-law.

None of these relationships ends through death or divorce. You can, for example, continue to claim your father-in-law as a dependent if he got more than half his support from you, even though your wife died or divorced you.

None of the relatives listed above has to live with you to qualify as your dependent. For instance: You may have been paying more than half the support of your mother who was living with your sister.

You can claim any of them as a dependent if he got more than half his support from you and did not have $600 or more of his own taxable income.

Next: Deductions.

Kensington Boosters Elect William Morgan

KENSINGTON — William Morgan was elected president of the Kensington Booster Club when members of the club and the Women's Auxiliary met recently at the Kensington Christian Church Annex.

Also elected were: James Allmon, vice president; Roland Dorr, secretary-treasurer; and Raymond Montgomery, outgoing president, trustee for three years.

Auxiliary officers elected were: Mrs. William Morgan, president; Mrs. James Allmon, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Orsburn, secretary; and Miss Thelma Humphrey, treasurer.

DISCUSSION WAS HELD about the condition of Beaver Creek, which runs through the north side of the village. Concern was expressed because the seasonal flooding of the creek has been steadily worsening.

The stream is almost completely grown-over and a number of beaver dams just west of town are stopping the flow. The school playground, Christian Church and a number of homes on both sides of the creek are being affected.

William Maple was appointed to present the matter to the county commissioners and to ask for aid in solving the problem. The commissioners will be asked to attend a meeting of citizens of the town to discuss what can be done.

An ice-skating pond for the playground was planned for next winter with work to begin early next autumn. Plans were begun for the annual Homecoming, with a tentative date set for July 5 and 6.

Next joint meeting of the Boosters will be March 17 at the Christian Church Annex at 2 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

District Granges

GRANGE NEWS
Guilford Has Meeting
Master Esther Scott presided when members of Guilford Grange met Saturday evening in the grange hall.

A donation was made to the youth work sponsored by the national grange and two appeals for aid were granted.

"History" was the program theme in charge of Mrs. Clara Rhodes. A history of the village of Guilford was traced from the first settlers until the present.

A discussion on the topics, "Names" and "Wills" was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the home economics committee. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Feb. 2.

Economics Made Too Easy

The more President Kennedy talks about the high finance of his administration, the less the rest of us know about it.

But we can nail down one thing. The high finance the President has been talking about in his budget message and this week's message on the economic "state of the union" isn't as easy as he makes it sound when he talks about it.

We don't know much about big money but we know the kind of people who work with big sums, especially in government, and because of this we know President Kennedy is oversimplifying the theory that if he cuts back taxes at a rate of $13.5 billion the stimulation this would give private spending would boom the economy and more than make up the difference.

This would happen, according to the Kennedy logic, because a booming economy would produce more income at lower rates. This is exactly the same reasoning that prompts a merchant to have a sale and attract more customers by reducing prices.

IT IS THE same reasoning that put the United States on the map when Henry Ford discovered he could make more money selling a million Tin Lizzies at $400 apiece than his competitors could make by selling 100,000 custom-built cars at $4,000 apiece.

President Kennedy and his advisors have applied mass production to taxation. They are employing a theory of merchandising that says it's better to have small per unit profit on a growing turnover than large per unit profit on a shrinking turnover.

What's wrong with the theory? Simply the fact it doesn't take into account what will happen if it works.

If the economy begins to boom there will be an instantaneous and overwhelming increase in government spending. The spenders will make sure there's nothing left over if federal income starts to rise.

The way they think of it, the carrot in front of the donkey is an ever-rising rate of public spending, and it is up to the revenue donkey to keep pace with the carrot.

This is the weakness in President Kennedy's idea.

HE PROBABLY could make net federal income rise by reducing certain revenue rates, thereby stimulating the economy.

But he doesn't dare to say he would reduce spending. The best he can promise is that he will stabilize it — and even that is a better trick than his predecessors have been able to perform.

Public spending always increases just fast enough to stay ahead of public income. It's a rule of life, like the rule that no public agency ever dies but must be killed and even then its employees show up elsewhere on the public payroll.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Now that the United Nations has subdued the warring factions in the Congo and exerted its arbitrary power over a supposedly sovereign state, will its next expedition be sent to liberate Hungary?

This question is being asked around Washington because the U.N. has lately assumed the role of a super-government and deems it to be its mission in the world to bring about — by armed force, if necessary — the settlement of any internal controversy that could conceivably have outside repercussions.

One spokesman for the United Nations secretariat sent a letter the other day to various newspapers to answer critics who had complained that the U.N. was setting a dangerous precedent by interfering in a civil war — a purely internal matter — in the Congo.

The letter said: To start with, outside interference, actual and potential, was so heavy that this was hardly a civil war when the U.N. became involved. More fundamentally, however, I think we must consider the consequences of the thermonuclear era in which we live.

It is no longer possible for one or another great power to impose world peace as did the Roman and British empires. No one power can undertake such a task without risking war and a thermonuclear war will have no victors — only vanquished.

Yet, occasionally, order still breaks down, chaos occurs, some vacuum is created, inviting outside interference and becoming thus the fuse that could explode our earth. Mankind, therefore has seen itself obliged to seek some new means of preserving international law and order. We cannot stop seeking or experimenting.

BUT NOT so long ago two big powers — the United States and the Soviet Union — stood poised against one another in the Cuban situation. The United Nations was in session and presumably had the same concern then about a thermonuclear war.

The U.N. didn't even discuss the possible mobilization of an armed force of several member nations to go into Cuba and remove the Soviet missiles or later on to inspect the bases to see if all the nuclear weapons had been withdrawn.

Surely this was not an internal matter at all, but an international affair and clearly a basis for action as provided in the charter of the U.N.

Logically, the United Nations now has set a precedent in the Congo which could readily be applied to Hungary and the other satellite states. The argument, for instance, is being made by U.N. spokesmen that "genocide" was taking place in the Congo and caused the U.N. to intervene.

But the same type of crime was noted at the time of the Hungarian revolution in 1956, when innocent men, women and children were killed.

THE U.N. tried to send a team of investigators to that ill-fated country but was refused permission by the Soviet-controlled regime.

Plenty of resolutions demanding that the investigating body be permitted to enter the country have since been passed by the U.N. General Assembly, but to no avail.

Just a few weeks ago the U.N. surrendered. It gave up any idea of compelling the Soviets to let the U.N. even take a look.

For all practical purposes, the U.N. forsook Hungary and the other captive countries. It will be said that the U.N. cannot act unless the Security Council agrees, as it did in connection with the Congo dispute, and that the Soviets would use that veto.

The U.N. managed to act in Korea when the Soviets were temporarily absent. Maybe they'll be away again sometime.

The General Assembly, however, isn't subject to any veto and can at any time authorize collective action under Article 51, irrespective of Soviet objections.

The record to date shows that the U.N. has been cravenly abandoning the captive countries of Europe and leaving them subjugated by the Soviet oppressors.

The United States government, under this and the preceding administration, has favored U.N. intervention in the Congo, but no pressure has been put on the U.N. to act in Eastern Europe.

President Kennedy, in his formal statement after the surrender of Tshombe's forces in Katanga, said:

"The United States objective in the Congo is neither more nor less than the establishment of conditions under which the Congolese people themselves can peacefully work out their own future."

"This was impossible as long as the territorial integrity of the nation was challenged by secessions, with consequent political instability and a standing invitation to intervention by the great powers."

THE SAME thing can, however, be said about Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia.

All the peoples of these countries want to "work out their own future." Yet the "territorial integrity" of these nations continues to be violated by Soviet troops which occupy and control every one of them by force.

Here is a task for a courageous U.N., since obviously no one or two powers can do the job.

It certainly is a field in which the U.N. ought not to "stop seeking or experimenting." For, otherwise, it will be said that he U.N. likes to operate as a super-government over the weak and the helpless countries like the Congo, but turns a cold shoulder toward Cuba and the other states now controlled by the Soviet Union.

Pop, How Will a Tax Cut Help You Strikers?

Ineffective Ship Blacklist

By VICTOR RIESEL

Apparently some authority quite high in the State Department does not deem the Communist build-up in Cuba a personal insult — nor offensive to the United States.

For someone inside the State Department has prevented other government bureaus from punishing those ship operators who have run Communist supplies into Havana.

There is definite evidence that this authority inside "State" has insisted that the U.S. continue to do business with ship operators who have been serving mainland China as well as Fidel Castro's military and economic machines.

Just why the Department of State has reversed decisions of other federal agencies no one really knows. But that it did is quite certain — as in the case of the SS Nora, a Norwegian vessel of 8,998 tons.

As recently as last July — at the height of the Soviet's secret build-up in Cuba — the Nora ran for Castro.

On Oct. 2 the U.S. Maritime Administration publicized a list of NATO nations ships trading with Cuba — and the SS Nora was on the sheet.

NOT LONG after that the United Arab Republic chartered the Nora to pick up 12,000 tons of tallow in the Port of New York.

This tallow is a sheep and cattle fat. It is used in making soap and in industrial finishing processes, such as the finishing of leather. The U.A.R. was to receive the tallow under our foreign aid program.

Since the U.S. Department of Agriculture handles such transactions and checks on the ships' charters to see that we're not getting rooked on transportation costs, it checked the Nora.

The department's special unit discovered her on the Maritime Administration's list. The agriculture people vetoed the vessel.

Then they heard from the Department of State, which is in contact almost daily with agriculture. The word from "state" was firm. If the United Arab Republic wanted to use the Nora, it must be used. That was final. The charter was approved on Dec. 17.

THERE WAS an outcry from the Seafarers, from the American Maritime Association, which follows such matters closely, and from many of us who take the Cuban fascism as a personal insult.

On Dec. 22 the Nora left without the tallow. But that's just the beginning of this story. Why are the U.A.R.'s wishes so paramount and pressing inside "state?"

It appears to be almost forgotten that the Nasser government in Cairo has blacklisted 33 United States vessels.

This blacklist is operated out of Alexandria by the Arab League's Israel Boycott Office. Any ship which does any business with Israel not only is prevented from doing business with members of the Arab League, but is forbidden to use the Suez Canal.

Yet the State Department insists on giving the U.A.R. full rights, though Cairo denies 33 of our ships the right to pass through the Suez — at both ends of which are ports to which we send so much foreign aid. These harbors are Port Said and Alexandria.

FURTHERMORE, the U.A.R. could hire American ships, giving work to U.S. seamen, to carry U.S. government-generated cargoes of aid from our gulf ports to Egypt.

But to add insult to this injury to our shipping people, as well as to our national dignity, there is another U.A.R. practice unreported until this very moment.

Here's what the U.A.R. has done: It has boycotted some 300 ships in all by placing them on the proscribed list in Alexandria.

These ships are operated by owners in Greece, Norway, Britain, Italy, Sweden, as well as in the U.S. Any operator can get his vessel off the list if he pledges not to deal with Israel.

Recently the Boycott Office lifted the blacklisting or the Norwegian ship Tove Lilian after the owners promised not to trade with Israel.

LAST SUMMER this column discovered that the Tove Lilian was in the port of Leningrad being loaded on Aug. 28. It was taking on vital cargo for Cuba.

Thus we find that the U.A.R. prefers to deal with ships that supply Communist cargoes to Communist Cuba rather than vessels which deal with the democratic government of Israel. And our State Department then insists that we still defer to the wishes of the U.A.R. when it comes to transporting the generous aid we send to Egypt, mostly at our expense.

Perhaps someone high in the State Department decides this on the basis of superior knowledge and wisdom. We the people should at least be permitted to share that knowledge.

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from the woman who yelled bloody murder because her husband leaned on the wallpaper and left grease spots was the last straw. Are the females in America having a mass nervous breakdown? It's no wonder the divorce rate is going through the roof.

A wife in Philadelphia can't stand her husband because he squeezes the toothpaste tube in the middle. A woman in California doesn't want to iron bedsheets. A loon in Kentucky won't let her husband smoke a cigar in the house.

Another crazy dame wants to strap a bicycle horn on her husband's head at night so it will wake him up when he snores. Still another nut wants to know what to wear to her husband's funeral—and he isn't even dead yet.

I'm convinced that the real trouble makers in this world are the wacky women. All a person has to do is read your column for a week and he can get plenty of evidence. — R. D.

Dear R. D.: Men have been complaining about women from the beginning of time and they continue to marry them. If you can think of a better combination I'll buy it.

Sheltered Children

Dear Ann: When my husband and I are with adults he speaks openly about how much things cost and is not the least bit reluctant to admit we can't afford certain things. I feel this is perfectly all right as most of our friends are in the same boat and we share similar economic problems.

I believe, however, that my husband should not make our children feel underprivileged by telling them we can't afford to buy them things which their friends have. Isn't it better to try to interpose in substitute toys? Or perhaps get them two inexpensive items in the place of one which is costly?

I keep telling him they will find out soon enough that life is cruel and full of inequities. Youngsters should not carry this burden. Am I right? — FRANCES.

Dear Frances: You're wrong. Where did you ever get the notion that it's harmful for children to hear the words, "No, we can't afford it." If more people used this phrase instead of hocking their eyeballs to please their kids, they'd be better off.

Parents who spend time with their children and give them love and attention needn't be concerned about the youngsters feeling "underprivileged." They are the lucky ones who grow up straight and strong.

Dear Ann: I'm a high school senior who wants to ask a question that has been bugging me. Why do teens who are going steady write after they break up and as how to get back into circulation?

In our high school, and it's a pretty big one, everyone knows within the hour who the breakups are. The news spreads like a forest fire and both kids are automatically back in circulation. So what's the problem? — DEEDEE.

Dear Deede: I don't know what goes on in your school, Buttercup, but most teen-agers who write after the Big Break-up DO want to know how to get back into circulation. These kids long to be part of the group, which they have ignored, and they don't know how to manage it. So they write to Mother Landers.

A Boy's Work

Dear Ann: Joe and I are going to be married. This is an exciting time for us. His first wife died when his son was only 5 years old. The boy is 9 now.

Joe and I have talked about every possible phase of our marriage which might be a problem. We agree on everything except one point. We decided to put the question to you. Do you think a 9-year-old boy should help his mother with the dishes?

I say yes. Joe says dishes are should not carry this burden. Am I right? — FRANCES.

Dear Frances: You're wrong. Where did you ever get the notion that it's harmful for children to hear the words, "No, we can't afford it." If more people used this phrase instead of hocking their eyeballs to please their kids, they'd be better off.

Parents who spend time with their children and give them love and attention needn't be concerned about the youngsters feeling "underprivileged." They are the lucky ones who grow up straight and strong.

Dear Ann: I'm a high school senior who wants to ask a question that has been bugging me. Why do teens who are going steady write after they break up and as how to get back into circulation?

In our high school, and it's a pretty big one, everyone knows within the hour who the breakups are. The news spreads like a forest fire and both kids are automatically back in circulation. So what's the problem? — DEEDEE.

Dear Deede: I don't know what goes on in your school, Buttercup, but most teen-agers who write after the Big Break-up DO want to know how to get back into circulation. These kids long to be part of the group, which they have ignored, and they don't know how to manage it. So they write to Mother Landers.

A Boy's Work

Dear Ann: Joe and I are going to be married. This is an exciting time for us. His first wife died when his son was only 5 years old. The boy is 9 now.

Joe and I have talked about every possible phase of our marriage which might be a problem. We agree on everything except one point. We decided to put the question to you. Do you think a 9-year-old boy should help his mother with the dishes?

I say yes. Joe says dishes are should not carry this burden. Am I right? — FRANCES.

Dear Frances: You're wrong. Where did you ever get the notion that it's harmful for children to hear the words, "No, we can't afford it." If more people used this phrase instead of hocking their eyeballs to please their kids, they'd be better off.

Intolerable And Unthinkable

Everything about the White House is news — the pony, the presidential family, the plumbing, the leak in the roof, the decor, the state dinners.

This is the central fact behind the latest informed guessing about what may be coming next in White House news policy. Informed guessers suspect President Kennedy who has been trying to find a modus operandi that suits his taste as the No. 1 news generator, is about to ditch the background briefing session.

If he does ditch it, the decision will have been forced by what happened when he talked off-the-record to three dozen reporters last New Year's Eve, then learned to his chagrin that some of them did not refrain from quoting him.

Some reporters never feel bound by off-the-record agreements, but when they feel this way they are obligated by professional courtesy to make their presence known before any off-the-record remarks are made.

But as things turn out, professional courtesy doesn't compare with a chance to get something extraordinary out of the White House. That's why President and Mrs. Kennedy had to be firm about newsmen "interviewing" Caroline. That's why it's forbidden for the servants to "leak" information about White House affairs.

THE PRESIDENT has shown signs of feeling this way on news policy. There has been evidence he believes it is not outside the province of politics to manage the news, on occasion.

The Washington press corps has been uneasy and uncertain about the ultimate outcome of Mr. Kennedy's groping for a modus operandi. Never did an incoming chief executive have more friends among working newspapermen than he had two years ago. But never did a president friendly to reporters create more doubts than he has created by looking for better ways to handle press relations.

That is the key element in the situation — that press relations is a problem. No president has solved it.

Some have worked harder at it than others; President Kennedy is working hard. But it won't be solved by him either, because in truth there is no basis for compatibility between the press and the politicians. They are natural opponents, and in the long run the opposition always materializes.

THEY ARE doing things that are irreconcilable — the press trying to get information, the politicians trying to suppress information, or shape it into a form that will favor their purposes.

It is important to understand this. In every administration, the question arises, and every time it arises those who are eternally hopeful think it will be answered definitively, finally and satisfactorily. If it ever is, the country will be in real trouble.

It would mean either that the politicians had swallowed the press, which would be intolerable, or that the press had swallowed the politicians, which would be unthinkable.

not be referred to in the presence of children and women.

What happened when I made a pig of myself or got hold of bad ice in refreshments was worth a book, because no one else ever harbored such lumps of indigestion and flashes of heartburn.

All this is to say nothing of my unmanageable hair and the trouble I had looking for something to dab on my face after shaving that would draw something besides flies.

And of course there were those other things, like a fellow's pride in working up an aroma in the course of a day's work. As an ice man, coal man and lumber hustler, also ditch-digger, farm hand, wheelbarrow jockey and stable neater, I gloried in the conviction that an Australian bushman and his dog could not match me smell for smell.

When shaving I thought before we had a hawk box that my agony was unique when Treasurer, Mrs. Helen Abrams; precinct chairman, Mrs. Mabel Huston; president, Mrs. Mary Lindner; secretary, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, and 18th District committeewoman, Mrs. Letha Asty. Absent when picture was taken was vice-president, Miss Carmen McNicol.

Republican Women's Officers Installed

Mrs. Carl Lindner was installed as president when members of the Salem Republican Women's Club met for a victory covered dinner Monday evening in their rooms in the Masonic Temple.

Also installed were: Secretary, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, and treasurer, Mrs. Helen Abrams. Vice president, Miss Carmen McNicol was unable to be present due to illness and will be installed at a future meeting. Mrs. Letha Asty was installing officer.

Mrs. Lindner made the following appointments: Chaplain, Mrs. Reed Calkins; parliamentarian, Mrs. Etta King; membership commiteewoman, Mrs. Josephine Long, and publicity chairman, Miss Lucille Baker.

Mrs. Asty announced that coffee brunches for the purpose of securing new members will be held in homes of various members starting in the near future.

William Weir spoke to the capacity crowd on the "Positive Side of Republicanism."

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell of Steubenville, Mrs. Ruth Crawford and Miss Gladys DeBolt of East Liverpool. The club will meet again Feb. 18 in the clubrooms.

DEAR HELOISE: One good way to launder a crinoline petticoat is to dip it up and down in warm soap or detergent suds in the bathtub and then rinse it under the shower without wringing it.

Hang it by the waist band to dry, using a skirt hanger with clothespins. If you like a stiff, bouffant effect, apply full strength plastic starch.

I removed the musty odor from my closets by placing a pan of water containing household ammonia on a high shelf at the back of the closet and leaving it overnight.

MRS. J. N. REINIG.

DEAR HELOISE: When my bath towels become thin and worn in the middle, I tear off the thick border at each end, turning the raw edges in and stitching around all sides on the sewing machine. This makes wonderful pot holders that can be thrown in the laundry.

When suede shoes get old and worn and seemingly past wearing... give them a good coat of liquid shoe polish (there are special types sold for suede). Set back and let them dry thoroughly, preferably several days or a week. Then take some sandpaper and rub the suede gently. This will remove all of the scuff and slick spots.

It works! You doll.

William J. Schlag

COLUMBIANA — William J. Schlag, 83, of 102 Stanton Ave. died at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at his home of a heart attack.

He was born in Pittsburgh March 17, 1879, a son of J. J. Henry and Sarah J. Sangree Schlag.

He lived here since 1904. A retired machinist, he had been employed by the National Rubber Machinery Co. for 31 years.

He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Columbiana and the Presbyterian Church.

His first wife, Mata Floor, died in 1908. In 1910 he married Anna Urban.

Besides his wife he leaves two daughters, Mrs. John Maschuk of Cleveland and Mrs. John Dickert of Jupiter, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Sangree of Salem and Mrs. C. R. Todd of Columbiana; a brother, Herbert Schlag of Columbiana; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Fry Funeral Home where friends may call Friday night from 7 to 9. Burial will be in Columbiana Cemetery.

Rev. Harry Scheidmantle, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Iler Funeral

LISBON — Funeral services for Wilbur Iler 75, who died Wednesday at the County Home, will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the County Home chapel by Rev. William Ring, pastor of St. Jacob's Church of Christ. Burial will be in the County Home Cemetery.

Friends may call at the County Home chapel up to the time of the funeral.

Charles H. Butler

ROGERS — Charles H. Butler, 56, died at 1:15 a.m. today at his home on Walnut St. following a lingering illness.

Born April 2, 1906, in Fairfield Twp., he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Butler. He married Alda Gorbey Sept. 27, 1939.

A member of the Rogers Methodist Church, he was a truck driver for the Columbiana Storage Co. for 15 years and a member of the Rogers Volunteer Fire Department.

Besides his wife he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Sandra Hostetter of East Palestine and Misses June and Clara at home; a son Charles Jr. at home; a brother, Leroy Butler of Columbiana; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Horne and Mrs. William Phillips of Greenport, L.I., and Mrs. Sarah Gorbey of Rogers; and two grandchildren.

Funeral service will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Warrick Funeral Home in Columbiana. Burial will be in East Carmel Cemetery near Rogers, with Rev. Melville Worley, pastor of the Rogers Methodist Church, officiating.

Friends may call Friday evening at the funeral home.

Mrs. Dallas Lodge

LISBON — Mrs. Edna Lodge, 71, of 404 N. Market St. died Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at her home after being in failing health for the past three years.

Born Feb. 25, 1891 in Salineville, a daughter of Allen W. and Amanda Summer Pedlar, she lived her entire life in Columbiana County.

Mrs. Lodge was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. Her husband, Dallas, died Feb. 15, 1946.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Norma Fowler of Goldsboro, N.C.; one son, Glenn Lodge, Orlando, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. Fern Cox of Alliance and Miss Olma Pedlar of Barberton and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home by Rev. Paul T. Gerrard. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Assistant Named to Bliss Co. President

W. P. Juckem of Bettendorf, Iowa, has been named assistant to the president for the E. W. Bliss Company, it was announced today by Carl E. Anderson, president. In this newly-established position, Juckem will be responsible for management services and procedures development.

Juckem was formerly vice president of manufacturing for Bliss' Eagle Signal Division in Moline, Ill. He joined Eagle in 1945 as assistant machinist foreman and subsequently held positions of production engineer, plant superintendent, and plant manager. Earlier he was with the Jenkins Machine Co. at Sheboygan, Wis., and was a time study engineer at Kohler Company, Kohler, Wis.

He will have his office at Bliss' headquarters in Canton.

Mrs. Russell Bates

MINERVA — Mrs. Esther M. Bates, 62, of 16424 Delmar Dr. SE, died at 7:25 p.m. Wednesday in Alliance City Hospital of complications following an extended illness.

Born in Salem, Feb. 3, 1900, she was the daughter of Henry and Rosa Johnson Flecker. A former employee of the Cronin China Company of Minerva, she owned and operated Bates Flower Shop in Minerva from 1945 to 1949. She lived in Minerva since 1932, moving from Westville, and was a member of the First Christian Church of Minerva.

Surviving are her husband, Russell J. one step-daughter, Mrs. Harvey (Maxine) Brown of Minerva; one son, Charles E. Sharpnack of RD 2, Carrollton; one stepson, James Bates of Urichville; one sister, Mrs. Alice Kopp of Minerva; one brother, Benjamin Flecker of Salem; five grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Gotschall-Hutchinson Funeral Home, with Rev. Arthur Guy officiating. Interment will be in Grandview Cemetery at Sebring.

Friends may call from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at the funeral home.

Accidents

The mishap occurred when an unidentified motorist drove left of center, struck Packman's car, and drove on.

Charles Stamets, 38-year-old Massillon truck driver, escaped injury at 1:25 p.m. on Route 30 more than eight miles south of Lisbon when his tractor went over an embankment. The patrol reported Stamets' truck failed to pull the grade, slid backwards off the highway and over the slight hill.

Auto Theft

St. when the wagon slid on ice, skidded across the lawn at the home of Dr. Wade Bacon and crashed into a pine tree.

Heater leaped from the wagon and fled with the constables in pursuit on foot. The man was apprehended in a weeded area on N. Morton not far from the crash scene.

The captive was taken to Lisbon jail where Salem police picked him up at 12:40 a.m. and returned the prisoner to Salem jail.

All the mail, chiefly newspapers, was recovered from the wagon and brought back to Salem by William Shaeffer, superintendent of mails here and former captain of the State Highway Patrol Auxiliary.

Postmaster Ray Reasbeck said Heater apparently was interested only in the car and not the mail. He said U.S. postal inspectors were due to arrive today to question the prisoner.

The station wagon had been loaded with mail from Chicago-Pittsburgh Train 22 just before the theft. Paxson was attempting to fix a frozen lock on the shed at the station where mail is kept when his wagon disappeared.

Gilmartin Sponsors Two New Measures

By Salem News Correspondent COLUMBUS — Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, co-sponsored a bill and a joint resolution in the Ohio House Wednesday as the General Assembly neared the end of its third week.

The bill would permit applicants for unemployment compensation to register by mail during any week benefits are claimed. The resolution calls for a state constitutional amendment to give townships authority to adopt charters and form township charter commissions.

victories and one loss. In the last two years, 1961 and '62, the SHS teams have finished with a 6-4 record.

School board members have been dissatisfied with Coach Morton's ability to train and discipline his team and also with the squad's letdown toward the end of the season in the past two years, the superintendent explained.

The High School Athletic Commission concurred in the board's action to relieve Morton of his coaching responsibilities. Smith said the board first discussed the possible action at a Dec. 14 meeting.

Morton came to Salem from Fairmont State College, Fairmont, W. Va., at the invitation of former Coach Earle Bruce.

A native of Cumberland, Md., is starred in football, basketball and baseball in high school and college.

Morton could not be reached today for comment.

reflected in the rise in calling volume. Local calls placed in the Salem exchange total 42,000 on an average business day, while five years ago 39,000 was the daily average.

Long distance traffic also is on the increase, with about 7,000 calls to out-of-town points being placed by Salem area people each day. About one-third of these long distance calls are dialed direct, while the remainder require the services of an operator.

committee and accept the presidential board's finding.

But in Mobile, Ala., the longshoremen rejected the entire peace pact on the basis of a local issue. The dock union in that port has insisted on a contract provision for pay when rain forces work to halt.

In New Orleans, ship company and union representatives met again today to discuss the contract proposal. They met for two hours Wednesday with no report of progress.

The New Orleans Steamship Association announced Tuesday it was willing to go along with the settlement formula proposed here by the mediation board appointed by President Kennedy.

New Orleans leaders of the longshoremen called for more local discussions.

But a federal mediator, Joseph Pierce, told newsmen in New Orleans Wednesday: "I am optimistic that the strike will be over in the next couple of days. A lot depends on results of voting in other areas."

In Galveston, Tex., Federal Mediator James O. Hubbard put industry and union negotiators on call for another peace effort today.

The negotiations in that Gulf Coast port were recessed Wednesday night, and a union spokesman said: "We're right back where we started."

Galveston ship companies rejected counter proposals for a new contract offered by union representatives.

Robert Moore, president of union Local 329 and a member of the Lake Charles to Brownsville, Tex., district contract committee, said the dockers had accepted the presidential mediation board's board's wage increase formula.

But Ralph Massey, president of the union's South Atlantic and Gulf Coast district, said the men had not accepted the industry's contract proposals.

Massey said the companies "agreed to a part of the presidential board's recommendations, but not all of them."

into Cuba. He said they include MG fighter planes and torpedo boats capable of carrying or firing nuclear weapons.

Morse said he has no special knowledge about an arms buildup. "But, I'll certainly proceed to learn all I can," he told a reporter.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he will ask the Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, to look into the situation.

State and Defense Department officials contend Soviet arms supplied Cuba are at about the same level as at the beginning of the year. By these accounts, Castro's arsenal included more than 100 MG fighters, 500 anti-aircraft missiles at 24 sites, 40 coast defense missiles, about 350 medium and heavy tanks and 7,500 to 10,000 Soviet bloc trucks.

The arms buildup report and scheduling of the Morse probe pushed to the background a running debate over the disastrous 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Goldwater proposed Wednesday an investigation by the Armed Services Committee. Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said if military and defense issues—and not politics—are involved, the committee would look into them.

Goldwater and several other Republicans have charged the administration withdrew air cover support for the Cuban exile invasion forces. They took issue with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's statement that no air cover was ever planned and therefore could not have been withdrawn.

In other developments: Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said in a television interview (CBS Reports) taped Monday at Palm Desert, Calif., that no air cover plan was drawn up during his administration.

The Red Cross said in Miami it hopes to be able to announce today the sailing of the steamer Shirley Lykes from Havana with up to 1,000 refugees. It had been expected to leave Wednesday night but was delayed. About 100 American and Cuban dependents arrived in Miami on a special flight.

Witnesses For Blue Laws Hearing Failing to Appear

By WILLIAM S. VANCE

News Staff Correspondent COLUMBUS — The house judiciary committee is running into a shortage of witnesses for its hearings on Ohio's controversial blue laws.

As the committee prepared to wind up its first week of hearings today, Chairman Edmund James, R-Noble, issued a warning to what he called "wait and see" witnesses.

"I want to warn them," he said, "that time may pass them by. We will not carry these meetings to the point of exhausting the members."

After hearing testimony from only four witnesses Wednesday, James said he is certain many persons with a vital interest in the issue are withholding comment until they see what develops.

He noted with some surprise that the committee has not yet been contacted by the Lawson Milk Co. which sponsored the ill-fated amendment last fall that would have spelled out further exemptions from the Sunday closing order.

James said the committee will continue to hold hearings on the two bills now before it as long as there are witnesses and their testimony is not repetitious. Hearings also will be held on each new bill.

And a new bill was among legislation introduced in the house Wednesday. Sponsored by Rep. Edward Dechant, D-Lorain, it would exempt farm produce stands and stores, operated by the owner or a member of his family, in which not more than three persons are employed.

James has his own ideas as to what kind of Sunday closing legislation should be written. He said he senses a reluctance among committee members to favor either local option or exemption based on a sales percentage.

Instead, said James, "we need to be definitive in the classes of product we consider to be non-necessaries."

He noted that this is a reversal of the views expressed by many, including House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, that necessities should be more clearly defined.

James said he thinks a workable bill could be written if it listed what items could not be sold on Sunday and also "spelled out what could not be prohibited from sale."

He said there "is no opportunity here for perfection" but he believes Ohio can write a better law than any other state has.

Three of the four witnesses Wednesday testified in favor of the local option bill cosponsored by Reps. Jess Dempster, D-Tuscarawas, and Martin W. Feigert, D-Van Wert.

The fourth, Franklin County Prosecutor Earl Allison pleaded on behalf of the Ohio Association of County Prosecutors for a bill that is "understandable, interpretable and enforceable."

While not recommending specific legislation, Allison said he thinks local option "would compound the confusion."

A new twist to the local option bill was offered by Frank Ollendorf, a graduate student at Ohio State University.

He suggested that the state rewrite the existing law to exempt known necessities, such as drugs, and let communities decide what else should be exempted.

The Dempster-Feigert bill would repeal the existing law and let communities write their own.

Six United School Honor Pupils Punished for Cheating

Six honor students at United Local School were filled with contrition today after an ironic episode of stealing and selling test papers and the youths' subsequent punishment came to light.

Executive head Chester Brautigan said a prominent senior, 18, fished six copies of freshly run final examinations in history and biology from his offices last Wednesday, the day before the two-day tests were to begin.

The youth admitted selling the papers to another senior and four sophomores, all of whom have been A and B students, at prices ranging from 55 cents to $1.00.

Irony entered the act when the students' plot was exposed prior to test time. With knowledge of the plan, the history and biology teachers prepared a totally different test — but the involved students still managed to pull either

A or B, making their efforts futile.

The plot, first ever known to occur at United Local, ended in penalties for all six boys. The senior who took the papers had his grades lowered in all subjects and has been deprived of all school privileges such as sports activities, clubs he belongs to and declared ineligible for the National Honor Society.

The boys who bought the papers will be given zeros in their history and biology examinations and will not be permitted to participate in extra-curricular activities for the balance of the school year.

The youths filed in, one by one, to receive reprimands from the executive head, after he, guidance counselor Joseph Marra, and principal Frank Solak decided on the punishment.

Brautigan said each youth expressed remorse at his action and promised not to participate in any such plan again.

The school official felt the penalty imposed on the students was "lenient" in light of the rigid terms met by several Ohio college students recently for a similar incident.

Two of the involved younger students ran away from home after the incident but were brought back by their parents before they traveled far.

Tax Cut

with the sweet. These were some of the major items on the sweet side:

Individual tax rates, now ranging from 20 to 91 per cent, would be cut in three steps to a new sliding scale running from a low of 14 per cent to a high of 65 per cent. The range suggested for 1963 was 18½ to 84½ per cent—to produce a first-year cut of $28 billion.

The top corporate rate of 52 per cent would be cut to 50 per cent in 1964 and 47 per cent in 1967. Effective this year, the 30 per cent rate on the first $25,000 of taxable corporate income would be slashed to 22 per cent. This would cover the entire earnings of 450,000 small corporations.

Individuals could claim a brand new minimum standard deduction of $150 each for husband and wife plus $100 for each dependent. These could be claimed even if they added up to more than the present standard deduction of 10 per cent of taxable income.

Employed women, widowers and divorced men who now can deduct up to $600 a year paid for the care of children while they work could deduct $900 for the care of two children and $1,000 for three. In addition, families with working wives could earn $7,000 a year instead of the present $4,500 limit and still claim this benefit.

Then there were these proposals combining the bitter and the sweet:

Most taxpayers 65 or older could subtract $300 from their annual tax bill. But they could no longer claim an additional $600 personal exemption nor the present retirement income credit. The net effect would be a tax saving for most—but not all—older taxpayers.

Taxes on long term capital gains, now ranging from 10 to 25 per cent, would be reduced to a new range of from 4.2 per cent to 19.5 per cent. But to claim a long term gain, you'd have to hold a share of stock or other capital asset for a year instead of the present six months.

Finally, most taxpayers probably would place the following recommendations in the bitter category:

Itemized deductions could only be claimed to the extent that they exceeded 5 per cent of taxable income. And there would be stricter limits on deductions for charitable contributions and casualty losses. Except for medical expenses, deductions now start with the first dollar of expense.

The right to exclude from taxable income up to $100 a week of sick pay, under certain circumstances, would be repealed entirely.

Special benefits lowering taxes paid on dividends paid corporate stockholders would be repealed.

Oil producers and others who claim depletion allowances would see these allowances slashed, in an indirect way, by 20 to 25 per cent.

There also would be changes in medical expense deductions. Taxpayers under 65 now may deduct medical outlays in excess of 3 per cent of taxable income, with drugs and medicines deductible only if they top 1 per cent of income. The two categories would be lumped under a new 4 per cent of income rule and, in addition, would be subject to the general 5 per cent floor on itemized deductions.

Present dollar limits on medical deductions would be repealed, however, and persons 65 or older could deduct all such expenses—subject only to the general 5 per cent floor.

PROBE CAR MISHAPS

Salem police investigated two auto mishaps Wednesday afternoon involving four city motorists.

Cars operated by Eleanor Jesko, 39, of 594 Franklin Ave. and Earl R. Ware, 35, of 1749 South-east Blvd., sideswiped at 6:30 p.m. on Franklin Ave. near S. Union.

The second crash occurred at 3:40 p.m. at N. Union and E. 3rd St. and involved autos operated by Mrs. Rosemary Stouffer of 979 Jones Dr. and Douglas I. Painchaud, 19, of 1980 Southeast Blvd.

Curthouse employees had neglected to remove the shut-off devices after the gas pressure in the area was increased, and standby oil burners, which should have kicked on when the gas furnaces went out, failed to operate because the oil tanks had been removed.

Here's What To Do About Frostbite

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What to do about frostbite became a matter of concern for some Ohioans as record cold subjugated the state.

Here's the advice of Children's Hospital in Columbus, which reported receiving numerous calls from worried parents:

Do not expose the frostbitten fingers, ears or whatever extremities are affected to warmth—repeat, do not.

Cold compresses should be applied and kept on the affected area twice as long as it was exposed to the cold weather.

St. Anthony Hospital here reported two frostbite cases Wednesday night.

shore-to-shore at East Liverpool for the first time this winter.

Cleveland's all-time low temperature of -17—recorded Jan. 29, 1873—was superseded at 2 a.m. today, when the mercury reached -18. The Jan. 23 record set in 1936 already had been broken Wednesday night low also erased a record posted in 1936. Columbus' frigidly today lowered a Jan. 24 record for the city which also had stood up since 1936.

Cincinnati was approaching its all-time minimum of -17, registered Feb. 9, 1899, after lowering its Jan. 24, 1936, all-time mark.

Starting Wednesday afternoon, temperatures plunged with awesome rapidity as the cold moved in from the west. The subzero readings in the western portion of Ohio then leveled off a bit at night as the drop accelerated eastward in the state.

As early as 9 p.m. Wednesday night, it was down to -17 in Dayton, -16 in Toledo and Findlay, -13 in Cincinnati, -11 in Columbus, -8 in Cleveland and -4 in Akron.

By midnight, Dayton held at -18, Toledo and Findlay at -17, Cleveland and Cincinnati at -15. But by then, Cleveland had dropped to -17, Akron -15, Columbus -14 and Youngstown -13. Marietta, in the southeast, read -1 at 9 p.m. but dipped to -11 within three hours.

Six weather-connected deaths were reported in greater Cleveland alone. All the victims were elderly men who suffered heart attacks shoveling snow at their homes.

School officials declared classes off today in scores of districts. All public and parochial schools in Columbus and most of surrounding Franklin County, all Cincinnati public schools and rural ones in county after county shut down for the day.

Potential heating problems and hazardous roads forced the unscheduled holiday—which assuredly runs through Friday and the weekend for some Central Ohio students because Friday already had been set aside for a teachers' meeting.

Fuel gas companies took cognizance of what threatened to become a critical situation. The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Ohio Valley Gas Co. moved to protect service to home customers in the 56 counties they serve by asking industrial customers to reduce use of natural gas during the record cold. The suppliers asked 295 industries to curtail use of gas in processing by 25 to 75 per cent depending on the local supply. Another 154 industrial customers were asked not to use gas for heating. Ohio Fuel said most had an alternate fuel to which they could switch.

The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. expected its customers

Dairymen to Meet an. 30

Dairy producers of the Columbiana-Mahoning area will hold their annual "Institute" on Wednesday, Jan. 30, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the First Christian Church in Salem.

Subjects of current interest and concern include "Your Future and Dairying" and "Short on Roughage? How To Feed." by Dan McGrew, dairy specialist from Ohio State University; "My Dairy Management Program" by Art Crocker, dairy producer from Valley City, Ohio; "Past, Present, and Future Federal Farm Legislation and Effect on Dairy Producers," Wally Barr, extension economist from Ohio State University.

All dairy producers and others concerned with dairy production and marketing are welcome. Lunch will be served in the church. No reservations are needed. This program has been planned by the Columbiana and the Mahoning County Extension Dairy Committees.

Advisory Committee To Meet

Reorganization and a review of long-time extension programming in Mahoning County are the major topics for the Mahoning County Extension Advisory Committee at their Tuesday, Jan. 29, meeting. This will be held at 8 p. m. in the County Extension office at Canfield.

Mrs. John Reynolds of Smith Township will also report on the State Extension Advisory Committee meeting of last October.

This committee is composed of representatives selected by the various groups of voluntary leaders with which Extension programming is developed. C. A. Malmesbury of Goshen Township is chairman and Mrs. Garland Crumbacher of Beaver Township is secretary.

1963 Fruit Spray Charts

The Ohio Cooperative Extension Service has just published its 1963 series of eight spray charts to guide commercial fruit growers in their fight against diseases and insects this year.

The charts are available at the Mahoning County Extension Office in Canfield. Prepared by entomologists and plant pathologists of the Extension Service and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, they contain the latest information available on common fruit diseases and pests, and recommendations for their control.

There are separate charts on strawberries, raspberries and blackberries, peas, grapes, sweet and sour cherries, peaches and plums. Two charts deal with apples, one with the control of common insects and diseases, the other with the control of special apple pests.

The charts list such information as when to spray, what materials to apply, and what results can be expected. Several of the charts have space where the grower may record what materials he used and when.

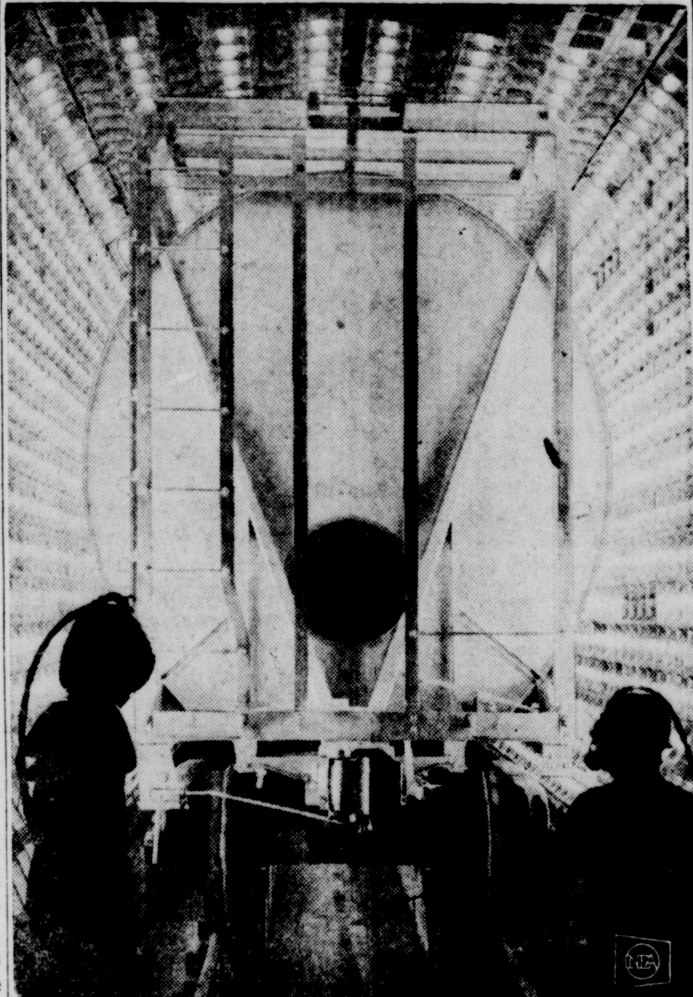

These charts are prepared for commercial producers. A leaflet is also available for backyard fruit producers. This reviews spray materials and time of applications for those with only a few trees.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today inaugurates one of the most vigorous campaigns in its history to urge growers to approve the Kennedy Administration's new wheat program in a referendum this May or June.

The campaign is expected to rival any put on during World War II to spur farmers to increase production for the allied war effort.

The wheat program—which sets up a two-price plan and tightens controls on production—requires approval by at least two-thirds of the growers voting.

The agency will mobilize its press, radio and television services, and its nationwide system of state and farmer committees which help administer farm aid programs.

In addition it is setting up special wheat information centers in the department and in the states, organizing a wheat program speakers bureau and publishing a number of pamphlets and booklets relating to the new program.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has said the administration faces a stiff fight to win approval of the new plan. The influential American Farm Bureau Federation is opposing it, but a number of other farm groups are supporting it.

The campaign opens today with a news conference to be presided over by Freeman. Similar conferences will be held for farm magazine representatives and radio and television farm program directors.

The speakers bureau will operate at the national, state and county levels. A series of regional meetings on the referendum will be held with the department's own employees. Radio tapes giving the administration's viewpoint will be made available to stations. Film clips, video-tapes and still pictures will be produced for television stations.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicts that in the not-too-distant future, this country will be selling considerably more cattle abroad.

It said in a report that transportation costs have prevented U. S. cattle from being more competitive in world markets. But, in recent years, new airline equipment and 100 per cent cattle boats have allowed the freight companies to lower their rates to more competitive levels.

"European buyers show a marked interest in U. S. dairy cattle, much more than the export figures would indicate at this time," a department report said. "The increases in milk production that farmers are getting by using U. S. bulls are the main selling factor," the report said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today U. S. exports of wheat and feed grains are suffering more than those of any other farm commodity from the east and gulf coast longshoremen's strike.

Most of the impact of the strike, it said, will fall on sales of these grains for dollars. Foreign importers able to buy with dollars were said to be turning to other markets.

The department said concessionary sales being made under the Food-For-Peace program will not suffer as much as the more desirable dollar sales.

Cubans Prepare For Trip to U.S.

HAVANA (AP)—Hundreds of Cubans leaving for the United States aboard the American freighter Shirley Lykes hurried to comply today with the Castro regime's departure requirements.

Under recent regulations they were required to forfeit their homes and automobiles to the state and to pay all utility bills before leaving. They were allowed to take no jewelry and were permitted only three changes of clothing.

No sailing time was announced for the Shirley Lykes, originally expected to leave Wednesday night with 900 to 1,000 relatives of the recently released Bay of Pigs invaders aboard. The Red Cross in Miami said it hoped to announce a sailing date today.

The 490-foot freighter is expected to take the Cubans to Port Everglades, Fla.

The ship reached Havana Friday with more than 7,000 tons of food and medicines as an installment on the ransom for the 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners freed last month.

The Pan American Airways plane which flew in the coats and blankets returned to Miami Wednesday, as expected, with 102 passengers.

Special services are being planned from 7:45 p.m. to 9 p.m. each evening Feb. 3 to 8 at the Leetonia Mennonite Church, with Rev. Paul Roth of Mazonow, Pa., as speaker. A flannel-graph lesson, sermon and special music will be held each evening. The public is invited.

Chancellor Adenauer this week signed a treaty pledging closer cooperation in foreign policy, defense and cultural development between the two countries.

It would have been unimaginable 20 years ago, while the war was on. Both De Gaulle and Adenauer have nursed their dream of new relations. But, while it could mean much, it also could mean nothing.

Adenauer will step out as chancellor by next fall to let a younger man take over. De Gaulle's tenure is uncertain. And even before they leave the people of both their countries must think of this:

What happens when these two men are gone and other men, with other views, step in?

For example: It cannot help but be an uneasy partnership so long as France has atomic weapons (she's working overtime to build a supply) and Germany, under a vow exacted from her by the Western allies, has none.

France would be the dominant member of the partnership. And at this moment it seems fair to say that De Gaulle is bent on being the dominant force not only in the partnership but in all Western Europe.

It's hard to see West Germany give such complete trust to French intentions that it would consent to remain the inferior partner indefinitely. The alternative would be to try to create its own atomic arsenal.

HIGH STAKES — The gaming room is in the dome of the 24-story Landmark Hotel, new to Las Vegas, Nev. The tower also contains luxury suites and restaurant.

One of the treaty provisions—which call for frequent consultations on the two countries' problems—requires a conference before either makes a decision "on all important questions of foreign policy."

Even as they signed, De Gaulle and Adenauer were not in agreement on some aspects of foreign policy. De Gaulle has arrogantly refused to consider Britain for membership in the European Common Market.

He also, and just as arrogantly, rebuffed President Kennedy's bid for setting up a multinational nuclear force within NATO. In both instances De Gaulle was thinking of France as a dominant force with far more allies than Germany.

Because of all these uncertainties, the De Gaulle-Adenauer treaty—nice as it sounds—may mean no more than the paper it's written on.

The whole Western Alliance, because of De Gaulle's attitude, has taken on a slightly ugly look. De Gaulle, in a fast-changing world where France has become a second-rate power, never seems to have lost his memory of France's long-ago splendor or his hope that it can restore the splendor, if only by wishing.

In the 1850's the husking of corn was a social occasion in the countryside and was usually followed by a dance in the farmer's barn.

Worst Winter In Europe's History Claims 50 Persons

ROME (AP) — Southern Europe's worst winter in a decade continued full force today, leaving nearly 50 persons dead in Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece.

The freeze isolated hundreds of mountain communities in Italy and northern Greece and piled up unaccustomed snowdrifts in southern Italy as it spread along the Mediterranean to Turkey.

Italy counted 20 dead, Greece 3 and Yugoslavia 25 in the recent days of extreme cold.

Hundreds of cattle and other livestock also have perished.

Freezing winds whipped high seas against the Adriatic Coast all along eastern Italy. The canals of Venice, icing up for the past three days, threatened to freeze over for the first time since 1929.

A motorship with 192 passengers aboard cruised all night off Sardinia, unable to get into the ice-blocked harbor of Porto Torres.

In Yugoslavia, the Danube froze over and workmen blasted the ice with explosives to keep the shipping lanes open. Several Yugoslav factories closed for lack of fuel and miners were called upon to work on Sundays. Wolves emerged from the forests and preyed on cattle and sheep.

Hundreds of snowbound communities in northern Greece awaited a letup that would allow Greek air force planes to drop food and medicine by parachute.

Cold also gripped much of the rest of Europe.

Britain had zero temperatures during the night as it moved into the 35th consecutive day of freezing weather. Faced by crucial gas, electric and coal shortages, Power Minister Richard Wood said troops will be used to move coal supplies if the freeze lasts much longer.

British railways cut passenger services to keep lines open for emergency coal trains.

Electricity and gas shortages hit the industrial Midlands and Wales. Thousands of workers were idled when auto assembly lines and other manufacturing plants shut down.

Buckingham Palace was darkened for a time Wednesday as engineers rotated power cuts to reduce peak loads. Queen Elizabeth was away at her Sandringham country estate.

Ice paralyzed shipping in northern Germany and Bavaria.

Iceland was bathed in sunshine that sent temperatures up to 39 degrees. Weathermen said it would get even warmer on the North Atlantic island.

NON-FICTION

PHILOSOPHY IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY ed. by Henry D. Aiken & William Barrett. 4 vols. From time to time there have been requests for present-day philosophy from library borrowers. Since it would be impossible for a library of this size to purchase the works of all the modern philosophers, we have added this set. It has been edited by two professors of Philosophy, one at Harvard and the other at New York University, has been carefully put together, and great effort has been made to present an objective view.

MARYKNOLL SISTERS, A PICTORIAL HISTORY by Sister Mary Francis Louise. The story of the work of this first American Catholic Women's Missionary organization, and something about many of the women who have directed it. Begun in 1906, there are now Maryknoll missions in South America, Africa, Hong Kong, Korea, Japan, The Philippines and other Pacific Islands.

IF YOU MARRY OUTSIDE YOUR FAITH by James A. Pike. Bishop Pike writes about this situation because it has so greatly increased in the past twenty years in this country. He describes the position of various churches and denominations on the matter of mixed marriage, gives counsel and advice on what ought to be done to instruct both parties before and after marriage, when each is from a different faith.

THE BATTLE FOR INNER SPACE by Irwin Stambler. An over-all survey of undersea warfare and of the sea. He gives the topography of the ocean bed, its currents and temperature layers. Next he relates the history of underwater craft. Principal content, however, is the development of undersea craft during the last few years.

COMMON SENSE ABOUT YOUNG OFFENDERS by W. David Willis. An Englishman who has had much experience in dealing with difficult children writes about causes and cures in a simple and readable style.

NATIONAL MERIT SCHOLARSHIP TESTS by Harry A. Tarr. Leading facts, background, sample questions from National scholarship tests. Also some other merit scholarship tests are listed, but most of the book is material to be studied to help you qualify to pass such tests.

MORAL EDUCATION IN FAMILY, SCHOOL, AND CHURCH by C. Eugene Conover. This book evaluates what is now being done in moral training and education, inquires into reasons why such training is falling short of what it should be, and states what should be done.

EDUCATION: AN INSTRUMENT OF NATIONAL GOALS edited by Paul R. Hanna. The consensus of opinion arrived at when more than 800 educators met to present their views and discuss how education will be able to help this country achieve the goals set forth in the Report of the President's Commission on National Goals. This was begun during the administration of President Eisenhower, and is under the general sponsorship of the American Assembly. It should be of interest to every individual who is sincerely concerned about the future of this country.

THE CRY OF A BIRD by Dorothy Gleason. One of two sisters who live on the coast of Cornwall in England writes about the wild bird sanctuary they have built up through the years with no capital but plenty of willingness to work and unlimited sympathy and patience.

RETURN TO THE WILD by Norman Carr. A brief and entertaining story of the lives of two lion cubs which were orphaned when very young and raised by the author, who at that time was a game warden in Africa.

FARM BUSINESS MANAGEMENT by Emery Castle and Manning Becker. Much of this text concerns the decision-making process; that is, it presents choices in farm management and shows why one choice is better than the other. It is detailed but not difficult in its consideration of farm administration.

WHAT TO TELL YOUR CHILD by Helene S. Arnstein. Help for parents in telling their children about unusual family events or crises. Some of the subjects covered are - The birth of a baby, the child's illness or disability, parents' illness, divorce, remarriage, moving.

NEW WORLD OF PHYSICS by Arthur March and Ira M. Freeman. The authors present in non-technical language a brief resume of the change in man's opinion about the science of physics. They then present in layman's language the theory of relativity, the founding of quantum mechanics and dematerialization of the physical world.

THE ELOQUENT BATON by Will Earhart. A little book designed to help a music conductor express himself well by means of the baton.

THE COMPLETE BOOK OF HUNTING by Clyde Ormond. There are two main divisions of the book - hunting game animals and hunting game birds. Such things as planning the trip, clothing and equipment necessary, pack outfits, setting up hunting camps, and outfitters and guides are taken up before the discussion of the actual game to be hunted.

MEDIAETRICS by H. F. Ellis. A lot of delightful foolishness about the middle-aged, mostly men.

THE PARTISAN REVIEW ANTHOLOGY edited by William

Phillips and Philip Rahv. A collection of what the editors consider the best material which has appeared in the Partisan Review magazine since its beginning in 1934. Most of the material is literary criticism, but there are also some short stories, some poetry and some articles on forms of literature.

SPAIN by Hugh Thomas and the Editors of Life. Another in the Life World Library series, this gives a brief resume of the differences between Spanish history and that of other European nations, discusses its present economic situation and difficulties and tells a little about its art and its people.

WORLD WAR I by Hanson W. Baldwin. The military editor of the New York Times presents an outline history of the first world war which is comprehensive in spite of being brief.

THE NATIONAL PARKS OF THE UNITED STATES by Louis

A. Bolin. Descriptions of thirty of our Parks, how they are organized, what programs are presented, other information of interest to tourists. This is reasonable priced ($3.95) and would make a good book to own if you planned to visit several parks in your travels.

UNEASY LIES THE HEAD by King Hussein of Jordan. Very personal recollections of this still young king whose country will no doubt remain for many years in the constantly embroiled tangle of the Middle East. THE LONELY LIFE by Bette Davis. Not ghost-written, some of it perhaps better left unsaid, but this is Bette Davis as a person. The person has always been interested in being a fine actress first, last and always, and that sometimes has meant bitter disappointment to friends and family.

President Wilson's portrait is on the $100,000 bill.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions And Answers

Q—What is erythema nodosum? What causes it and what can be done for it?

A—Erythema nodosum is not a specific disease but may be a reaction to some infection which in a given person may or may not be identified. Among others it may be associated with tuberculosis or rheumatic fever. It usually starts with fever, localized pains, and general indisposition.

The skin swellings are red, painful to touch, and vary in size from that of a filbert to that of a walnut. They are usually seen on the legs. They are suddenly and are most commonly seen on the legs. They are hard at first and later become soft but do not discharge pus; they gradually disappear in about 10 days.

If possible a person who has this condition should be placed in the hospital where every effort should be made to discover the cause. Unless the cause is determined the most your doctor can do is to try to relieve the symptoms.

Q—Is it normal for a 14-year-old girl who has just started to menstruate to skip a month or two between periods.

A—Yes.

Q—My sister, who keeps house for me, has progressive muscular dystrophy. She is almost bed-ridden. She tries to do the housework but her doctor wants her to discontinue most of this and rest. What do you think?

A—In most persons muscular dystrophy is a hereditary disease the cause of which is unknown. There is a wasting of the muscles especially of the shoulders, hips and back. There is no pain, and the disease does not shorten the life of the victim. With proper management many persons with this disease can remain reasonably active. It's a great mistake for a person with this condition to lose heart and abandon all efforts to help himself. In these persons the progressive weakness and muscular contractures that result are erroneously blamed on the progressive nature of the disease when often they are actually caused by inactivity, the atrophy of muscle.

Although there is no drug that will benefit sufferers, much can be done for most of them with physical therapy and the use of self-help mechanical devices designed to meet individual needs.

Q—I am 68 years old and don't eat much. I feel full all the time. What causes this?

A—Poor appetite may be caused by many things, some serious and some not so serious. Chronic diseases of the kidneys or heart, tuberculosis and cancer are among the causes for which a thorough examination and early treatment are essential.

Excessive use of alcohol or tobacco has ruined many an otherwise serviceable appetite. Some aging persons, especially if their teeth are poor or if they live alone and have to cook their own meals, just seem to get tired of eating. In any case a thorough physical check-up should be the first step toward solving your problem.

You'll make the wisest choice no matter which Chevrolet you choose!

These four different cars are alike in one important way. Each is a product of Chevrolet Division of General Motors. That means any one will give you more for your money in performance, beauty and comfort... plus more good news come trade-in time. However, each of these fine cars has its own way of being distinctive too, because each is tailored to the interest of a certain kind of buyer. Our big Chevrolet, for example, with its Jet-smooth ride, luxury and styling you'd expect in cars carrying a much higher price tag. Chevy II with its parkable size, sparkling performance and outstanding fuel economy. Corvair with rear engine maneuverability and the instincts of a sports car. And the dramatic new Corvette Sting Ray, America's most exciting car becomes America's most advanced car, now available as a two-seater coupe or convertible. In all, the Chevrolet line presents 33 handsome new models to choose from... a variety designed to suit the needs of just about everyone. So it comes down to a question of which one suits you best. Whichever your choice, you can be sure it's a wise one... and one you'll be happy with every day that you drive it.

Hollywood: The Fabulous Era Was Warm Hour of Nostalgia

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood entered its fabulous era on Oct. 6, 1927, when Al Jolson first sang on a screen in "The Jazz Singer."

Wednesday's night's ABC spe-

7:30 — Ch. 3, Wide Country: James McMullan, R. G. Armstrong and Jody Fair in "Don't Cry for Johnny Devlin" when Mitch loses his lead in rodeo standings.

8 — Ch. 8, Perry Mason: John Conte, George Macready and Jean Allison are involved in a diamond robbery in "The Case of the Blind Man's Bluff."

8:30 — Ch. 3, World of Benny Goodman: Guests include Peggy Lee, Gene Krupa and Dave Brubeck in this biographical sketch through films and pictures narrated by Alexander Scourby.

9 — Ch. 5, My Three Sons: Steve is reminded of his younger days when he sees a pretty young girl in "Flash Back."

9:30 — Ch. 5, McHale's Navy: Fuji the cook is demanded by Capt. Binghamton after the captain samples his food in "The Captain Steals a Cook."

10 — Ch. 3, Andy Williams: Sammy Davis, Jr. is guest.

11:20 — Ch. 8, Movie: Fredric March and Olivia de Havilland in 1936 adventure, "Anthony Adverse."

In the Service

Pfc. Ronald L. Edgerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton of Leetonia, has returned to service as a pharmacy specialist at the Quartermaster Center in Philadelphia after a 30-day furlough at his home.

A graduate of Leetonia High School, Pfc. Edgerton was employed at the Witmer Implement Sales prior to his enlistment in February, 1962.

Dennis Prokupek son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold F. Prokupek of 1735 Maple St. and Robert E. Steele son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Steele of 337 N. Lincoln Ave. recently reported for duty at the naval air station at Jacksonville Fla.

Both are airmen apprentices assigned to Attack Squadron 44 for maintenance duty.

New address for Pvt. Lester J. Cosgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cosgrove, Sr. of 325 W. Wilson St., is as follows: Co. B, TAGSUSA Class PS No. 8, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, 16, Ind. He was transferred from Fort Knox, Ky.

cial, "Hollywood: The Fabulous Era," picked up the history of the movies at that point and, with small samples and a narration by Henry Fonda, carried the story almost up to date.

It was, for the most part, fascinating, but it would have been infinitely more effective had the producer concentrated on the most glamorous movie years—up to 1940 for instance.

The most intriguing material was the excerpts from the earlier talkies—John Gilbert speaking in a piping English accent; Dick Powell singing to Ruby Keeler; Mae West inviting fresh-faced Cary Grant to come up and see her some time; Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert; William Powell and Myrna Loy; James Cagney and Edward G. Robinson.

The postwar film material had less charm and appeal. It just isn't old enough. But, in all, it was a warm hour of nostalgia, particularly if the viewer was old enough to remember the enchantment of seeing the originals.

People who keep a sharp eye on the television industry have been puzzled for months. It is a television fact that when a hit show emerges during a season, the imitators get busy and, within months, reasonably exact facsimiles pop up on other networks.

Well, this season's surprise smash hit has been the country style comedy, "Beverly Hillsbillies," on CBS. The puzzle has been that nobody has been announcing plans for a new series about a Southern mountain family moving to Boston or "Forest Hillbillies," about a Southern mountain family moving to New York.

CBS has now dropped the other shoe and the suspense is over. Its schedule next season will include a new comedy called "Ozark Widow." It will be a true child of the original, however, because it will take Pearl Bodine, Jed Clampett's manhandling widowed cousin (played by Bea Benadaret) for a star. Presumably, however, Buddy Baer who has been playing both her son and her daughter—Jethro and Jethrine—will be confined to one role, the L'il Abner type in the original show. As a matter of fact, the Jethrine part will soon be eliminated from "Beverly Hillsbillies."

Recommended tonight: "The World of Benny Goodman," special, NBC, 8:30-9:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—documentary biographical treatment of the life of the clarinetist.

CORONER TO RULE

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Charles Lunsford, 54, of Dayton died Wednesday night after his auto hit a city light pole. The coroner's office was attempting to determine whether Lunsford suffered a heart attack before the wreck or whether to record the case as a traffic fatality.

FRANK SINATRA plays an army officer in the suspense drama, "The Manchurian Candidate," which will be shown at the State Theater a week beginning today. Co-starring with Sinatra are Henry Silva, Laurence Harvey and Janet Leigh.

East Rochester

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Snively of Canton called on her mother, Mrs. Alvada Betz recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harsh visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Trachsel in Massillon recently.

Damascus

Esther Zinn Missionary Auxiliary of the Friends Church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Gerald Steer recently with Mrs. Edward Escolme as guest.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Donald Griffith.

It was decided to assist the Myrtle Williams Society in making puppets for Dr. and Mrs. W. E. DeVol to use for children's entertainment in their hospital in India.

Esther Zinn group will be in charge of the World Day of Prayer for Missions March when Hill Methodists and Damascus Methodists and Friends will participate at the Friends Church.

Mrs. Donovan Winn presented the prayer requests. One dollar per member will be collected to send to India and Formosa for literature. Lunch was served by the hostess.

HOOP TALK

By...Double Dribble

Greetings, Roundball fans! I trust you're toasting your toes before the fire this pleasant winter evening. And I just know you've been waiting anxiously for the paperboy to plop the paper on the porch so you could get Old D.D.'s learned opinion of your favorite sport. Well, I'm here now so relax and enjoy yourself.

The Red Dragons went down to defeat last Friday. . . But they snorted up a storm in the last 2 periods. Talk about score! Everything they threw fell through the hoop so you could get Old D.D.'s learned opinion of your favorite sport. Well, I'm here now so relax and enjoy yourself.

And now, on to the upcoming tilts. . . First on the Calendar are the Bengals from Wellsville. . . And without a doubt these are the tallest Tigers in Captivity. . . 6-5, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, and 5-11 (where'd that last one come from) certainly makes for a tall crew doesn't it? It goes without saying that a team comprised of all seniors, that much size, and an 8 and 1 record must have something more than luck, wouldn't you say? This is one Tiger that isn't going to lay down and play dead just because the Quakers happen to be on the floor with them. Look for a real fired up ball club from the river city this Friday, because it's been a long long time since a Wellsville team took home a Quaker Steak in the form of a win. . . And you can certainly bet these boys are going to be out to do it this year.

clubs . . . Saturday's opponent will be Akron South's Cavaliers. This team may have been guilty of looking ahead, because they were upset last week. They are bringing a 9 and 1 record to town to put on the line . . . and since they haven't beat the Quakers in the past two years, you may certainly expect these Knights without Armor to take up the challenge this year with "Much Vigah!" This team isn't as tall as the boys from down-river . . . but they have been looking ahead to take the Quakers since the season began. They have a lot of hustle, desire and determination. These boys will give the Quakers all they can handle . . . and maybe a little more. All in all look for two real hard-fought battles in a row this weekend. Go get 'em, Quakers!

Well, you've reached the end. You may now put down the paper and take your much needed nap . . . or, if you are in the mood, dash off a line to your friend Double Dribble. Write P.O. Box 316, Salem, Ohio. See you at the game. If you're snowed in. . . or out as the case may be.

Salem Awaits Tough Cage Slate Here This Weekend

Quakers Battle Bengals Friday

Akron South (9-1) Scheduled Saturday

In Wellsville and Akron South, Salem will probably be playing one of the toughest schedules in the area this weekend. The Bengals with an 8-1 mark have posted seven victories in a row. It is probably the best Wellsville team since the Bevo Francis era. The Quakers have been doing some work against a press during drills this week. Coach John Cabas was displeased with Salem's inability to handle the defensive tactic in the clash with Niles last week.

SALEM DOESN'T plan any drastic changes for either the Bengals or Cavaliers. The Quakers have been practicing fundamentals, while polishing offensive maneuvers and working out defenses for both opponents.

Wellsville may use as many as 11 men against the Quakers. Coach Jack McDevitt plans to start seniors Steve Baldwin 6-5, Milton Martin 6-3, Ed Nelson 6-3, Forrest Harris 6-3 and Andy Dash 5-11.

Others who will see considerable action include seniors Jim Powell 5-11, Alvin Thompson 5-11 and Don Welch 5-10, plus a junior Terry Flesch 6-2.

Coach Cabas will counter with Bill Beery 6-1, Bob King 6-5, Marlin Waller 6-0, Rick Platt 5-9 and Dave Capel 5-9.

Baldwin, who is also a strong rebounder, is the Bengals' leading scorer with 125 points. Nelson has netted 105 markers for the Bengals.

BEERY, WHO needs 110 points to reach a three-year-career total of 1,000, is averaging 22.2 a contest. If he keeps up his current pace, he may even break the all-time Salem scoring mark of 1,050 points set by Jack Alexander in four seasons.

The Quakers have shown balance in their scoring this season. Three times during the campaign, Salem's starters all finished in double figures.

Following Beery in the scoring column is King with 132, Platt with 118 and Waller with 109.

Since he got a chance to start two ball games ago, Dave Capel has come through with 11 and 10 point efforts and has done a fine job defensively.

Wellsville's victories include Beaver Local 76-43 and 57-29, Lisbon 72-47, East Liverpool 57-53, Toronto 51-45, Steubenville Central Catholic 48-38, Chester, W. Va., 63-34 and Wierton Madonna, W. Va., 57-56.

MIDLAND, PA. handed the Bengals their only loss of the campaign, 45-35, the second clash of the season.

Akron South follows the Bengals here Saturday night, and the Cavaliers bring with them an impressive 9-1 record, which includes wins over highly touted Cuyahoga Falls 62-58, Akron East 62-41 and Wooster.

Coach Bill Saterlee's aggregation had a nine game winning streak snapped by a fired up Akron North 75-67 last weekend. The Vikings shot a fantastic 60 per cent, while rolling to their fourth in nine starts.

Probable South starters are seniors Bob Culver 6-1, Jim Liggins 6-3, Jerry Mitchell 6-3 and Al Dandridge 6-3, along with Leroy Smoot, a 5-9 junior.

Smoot leads his team in the scoring department with an 18 point average. Dandridge follows with a 16 point average.

Salem's 8th Graders Lose Overtime Tilt

Salem's eighth grade basketball team dropped a 39-37 overtime decision at Junior High gymnasium Tuesday.

It was only the second loss in eight starts for the young Quakers.

Stanton trailed for three periods 7-6, 17-14 and 24-23. The score was tied 31-31 at the end of the fourth frame. The winners outscored the Quakers 8-6 in the extra stanza.

Hackett sparked Salem with 14 points. Freeman led Stanton with 14 markers.

SALEM (8th Grade)—37: Bloomberg 0-2-2; Hite 0-0-0; Tinsley 4-0-8; Fenaman 0-0-0; Hackett 6-2-14; Shasteen 3-1-7; Drakulick 1-2-4; Montgomery 1-0-2; Christofaris 0-0-0. Totals 15-7-37.

STANTON—39: Babb 2-0-4; Freeman 7-0-14; Baker 2-0-4; Pfeiffer 2-3-7; Thigpen 5-0-10; E. Young 0-0-0. Totals 18-3-39. Totals 17-24-31-37.

Bill Kunkel, drafted by the Yankees from Toronto for $25,000 at the winter baseball meetings, had a 3.38 earned run average for eight innings with Kansas City early last season. He allowed three runs on homers.

Mark My Word

By MARK W. MILLER

There is some chance that Jimmy Brown will appear with the Cleveland Browns, and Gene 'Big Daddy' Lipscomb may perform for the Pittsburgh Steelers, when the two cage squads clash at Salem Senior High gymnasium Saturday, Feb. 2.

Chairman William Bartholomew announced that there are still choice seats available for the event. Tickets are on sale at Fisher's News Agency and Heddleston's Drug Store at 50 cents for children and $1.25 for adults.

Proceeds from the contest are earmarked for the "Jaycees" various programs.

A preliminary clash will find Salem's freshmen aggregation in a battle against a sophomore combine at 7 p.m. The featured tilt is set for 9 p.m.

Ernie Davis, former Syracuse All-American football star, is set for action. He will lead a Cleveland team that includes Bernie Parrish, Vince Costello, John Morrow, Dick Schafrath, John Wooten, and Rich Kreitling.

Playing for the Steelers will be John Henry Johnson, John Reger, Myron Pottios, George Tarasovic, "Red" Mack, Dick Hoak, and Dick Haley.

Members of both teams will appear at Timberlanes following the main contest.

A TOTAL OF 30 teams will compete in the Youngstown and Struthers Class AA Sectional Tournaments during the last week of February and the first week of March.

The annual event will begin Saturday Feb. 23 and end Saturday, March 9.

The squads entered are Salem, Columbiana, Leavittsburg, Warren, Liberty, Howland, East Palestine, Beaver Local, Poland Struthers, Champion, Canfield, Niles, Newton Falls, Girard, Lisbon Brookfield Austintown Fitch Hubbard, plus all the Youngstown Schools.

BOB PURKEY became the number one signer for the Cincinnati Reds when he inked his 1963 contract Jan. 12.

For his fine pitching record last season, Purkey received a substantial increase in salary.

Purkey won 23 and lost only five during the 1962 campaign, and he compiled a 2.81 earned-run-average which was third best in the National League and fifth best in the majors.

THE PITTSBURGH Pirates have a full squad of 42 men on their current spring training roster for 1963. This includes 17 pitchers, eight catchers, eight outfielders, seven infielders and two first basemen.

A total of 11 new faces will be on hand for the initial session. They are Don Cardwell, Don Schwall, Julio Gotay, Jim Pagliaroni, Ted Savage, Pat Donnelly, Ron Brand, Carl Taylor, Mike Derrick, Gene Alley and Lenny Merullo.

Ten veterans returning are eight-year men Dick Schofield, Roberto Clemente, Bill Virdon, Bob Skinner and Roy Face, and 10-year men, Smoky Burgess, Bob Friend, Harvey Haddix, Vern Law and Johnny Logan.

Cassius Clay Faces Powell In 10-Rounder

By LOU PRATO

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Exalting pompously that the fight will go no longer than three rounds, brash young Cassius Marcellus Clay takes another step tonight in his announced bid to become the youngest heavyweight champion in boxing history in a 10-round bout against Charley Powell.

More than 10,000 fans are expected to jam Pittsburgh's Civic Arena to see if the voluble Clay, the third-ranked heavyweight contender, is as adroit with his fists as he is with his tongue.

A victory is a must for the impetuous Clay. He is determined to win the heavyweight title by next November in order to best Floyd Patterson as the youngest heavyweight champ on record.

Patterson was 21 years, 11 months old when he first won the crown. Clay celebrated his 21st birthday last Thursday.

Unbeaten in 16 fights Clay is a 4-1 favorite to dispose of Powell, once a ranked heavyweight contender and a former pro football player.

The Louisville youngster arrived in town last week and blithely boasted that he would knock out Powell in five rounds. But he revised the prediction earlier this week, saying:

"So you people will believe in me, Powell must now go in three."

Clay's prophecies are not taken lightly. In 12 of the 13 fights he has won by knockouts, he picked the exact round for the fall of his foe.

Friday's Games: St. Louis at Boston; Cincinnati at New York; Detroit at Chicago; Syracuse vs. Los Angeles at San Diego.

Former Yankee pitching star Bob Turley, sold conditionally to the Los Angeles Angels, had a 4.57 earned run average for 69 innings with the Yankees last season.

Salem Freshmen Nip Poland Squad 23-22

Salem Junior High School got back on the winning track with a hard earned 23-22 victory over Poland at the Bulldogs' gym Tuesday.

Coach Tom Cope's aggregation bounced back, following a 46-31 loss to Canton McKinley, to chalk up their seventh in nine starts.

At the end of the initial period the score was tied 2-2. Salem then grabbed an 11-6 margin at intermission, and led 16-12 at the end of the third session.

Jim Lantz and Gary Stoddard collected seven points each to spark Salem. Umbel led Poland with eight markers.

Salem entertains Stanton at Junior High gymnasium today at 4 p.m.

Clay Will Discuss Fight Each Round

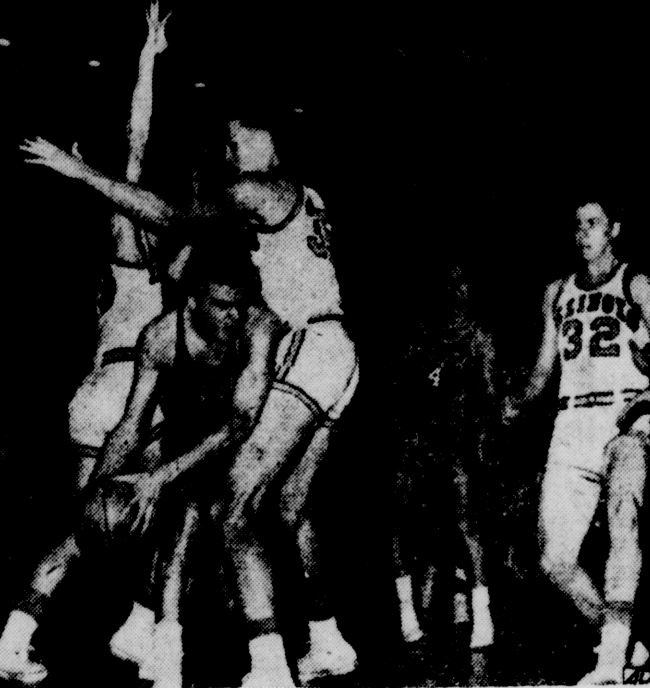

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cassius Clay—boxer, prognosticator and poet—may turn commentator tonight in his 10-round heavyweight bout with Charley Powell.

Archie Litman, promoter of the fight at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena, said Wednesday night that Clay, who chatters incessantly, has agreed to discuss over an arena microphone the progress of the bout after each round.

The plan is subject to the approval of Pennsylvania Boxing Commissioner Paul Sullivan. Such a move is believed to be unprecedented.

If the fight goes past the third round—the round in which Clay has predicted he will knock out Powell—Cassius will explain why he was wrong, Litman said.

When the football season ended at Syracuse, sophomores Jim Nance and Gerry Everling turned to wrestling.

SQUEEZE PLAY BY ILLINOIS — It's a tight fit for Ohio State's Don Platt (13) in game with Illinois at Champaign, Ill., Jan. 7. He is caught between Skip Thoren (35) and Bill Small (33) of the Illini. Watching play are Dick Ricketts (4), Ohio, and Bill Edwards (32), Illinois. Undefeated in Big Ten conference, Illinois won, 90-78.

Southeast Plaza Notches 8th, Whips Shaffer Ford 86-35

With an easy 86-35 victory over Bud Shaffer Ford Wednesday night, Southeast Plaza (8-1) must now wait for the results of the Old Dutch (7-1) —Berlin clash scheduled Monday at the Memorial Building at 9 p.m.

Should Old Dutch win, first half competition will end in a two-way tie for first place in the City Basketball League.

In another contest last night at the Memorial Building, Damascus Auction (4-5) led all the way against Berlin (2-6) with period scores of 20-14, 38-25 and 53-35.

Larry Shreve took scoring honors for the winners with 14 points. Chuck Brown chipped in with 13, Len Barnett had 12 and Bob Morgan collected 11.

Daris Gatrell and Oral Bates each had 10 markers for the losers.

Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute Report: PLYMOUTH BEATS FORD AND CHEVROLET IN 8 OUT OF 10 OFFICIAL TESTS

Plymouth once again proves all-around superiority against its competition. Handling, safety, performance, economy—all of these were measured in the second meeting of Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth early in December at the Riverside, Cal., test course. In a "Showdown" asked for by Plymouth, a 1963 Plymouth Fury V-8 whipped a comparably equipped Chevrolet Impala V-8 and Ford Galaxie "500" V-8 in eight out of ten official tests.

Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute bought the cars, hired the drivers, supplied the officials, made and enforced the rules. The chart at right leaves no question about the results. Plymouth excelled in all-around performance and economy. Add in Plymouth's good looks and 5-year/50,000-mile warranty*. See your dealer. Plymouth's on the move.

Akron Rallies To Trim Kent

Hiram Turns Back Allegheny, Pa., 99-64

By The Associated Press
Akron and Hiram, second and fourth in over-all standings of Ohio's 41 college varsity basketball teams, improved their records with impressive triumphs Wednesday night.
Akron won its 13th game in 14 by coming from behind to beat host Kent State 77-69. Hiram made it nine victories in 11 tries by swamping Allegheny (Pa.) 99-64. In the only other game, Fenn (4-5) flipped Edinboro (Pa.) State 68-66.

Arkon, which fell to 12th in the U.S. small college rankings of the Associated Press after losing to Ohio Wesleyan, beat a major conference (Mid-American) foe in Kent. The Zips won it by superior rebounding and by sinking 31 free throws to the Golden Flashes' 21. Akron trailed 32-26 at the half, but Dave Evans' long jump shot gave the Zips the lead for keeps at 54-53. Dan Norris scored 27 and Denny Klug 21 points for Kent (2-1) in a vain cause.

Hiram's high-scoring trio stayed close to their per-game averages as Ken Rowen bagged 26, Terry Brown 22 and Bill Meyer 19 against Allegheny (1-6).
Fenn's Denny Turkall tallied 19 as the Foxes erased an early Edinboro lead.

MOST VALUABLE — Eddie Bressoud, named the most valuable player with the Boston Red Sox last season, admits he will be playing under more pressure this year. The shortstop is giving batting tips to students at Los Altos, Calif., High School, where he is physical instructor during the off-season. Johnny Pesky, manager, named him Bosox captain.

Casper Fires 67 In Pro-Amateur Event

San Francisco Open Golf Tournament Starts Today

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Casper says he's playing his best golf ever on the touring pros' winter tour, which should serve as a warning to others starting the $50,000 San Francisco International Open today.

For Billy won the $5,300 first prize in Bing Crosby's tournament Sunday and shared low-pro honors Wednesday with Dave Ragan in the pro-amateur prelude to the San Francisco event with a 4-under-par 67. Each received $462.50 for his effort.

"I feel I'm playing better on the winter tour than I ever have played on it," the 1959 U.S. Open champion said after posting five birdies and one bogey Wednesday. "I think a lot of it is due to my new putting stance."
Most of the pros reported the greens at the Harding Park Municipal Course, scene of the 72-hole test, were bumpy—a condition aggravated by the long dry spell in Northern California.

Arnold Palmer just shook his head when a newsman asked about the greens following his even-par 71.
Gary Player, the 1961 San Francisco champion, didn't arrive in time to play in the pro-amateur but ranks among the tournament favorites.

NHL Talks Of Expanding At Meeting

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Stafford Smythe poked his finger into the National Hockey League expansion pie Wednesday and out popped several indignant gentlemen from the Pacific Coast.
Smythe, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs and a member of the NHL's Board of Governors, the circuit's policy-making group, started the uproar when he said in Toronto:

"Everybody talks about Los Angeles and San Francisco when it comes to expansion, but they're last in line in my opinion."
Smythe termed Pittsburgh the No. 1 city in the event of NHL expansion from its present six-team make up of Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago.
Smythe continued: "Baltimore, St. Louis and Cleveland also rate ahead of the West Coast cities. The Minneapolis-St. Paul area is another good one although they don't have a large enough arena at present."

"Irresponsible," bristled Al Leader, president of the Western Hockey League, which includes Los Angeles, San Francisco as well as Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary.
"Stafford Smythe made one short trip to the West Coast and I don't believe he is qualified to comment on the operations in our league," Leader said. "As far as I am concerned that was a very irresponsible quotation."

Hank Iba's Cowboys Clobber Oklahoma 81-62; Army Wins

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
They never call him Han. Or Henry. Or even coach.
It's always Mr. Iba.
Which may be indicative of the respect accorded Henry P. Iba, Oklahoma State athletic director and basketball coach by the students who know him best, his players.

This respect is compounded of a number of factors: His unbending discipline, concentration on details, demand for perfection and, perhaps as much as anything, his record.
His Cowboys stormed over Oklahoma 81-62 Wednesday night, pushing their season record to a solid 12-2, their Big Eight mark to 3-0 and Iba's career coaching total to 681-234.

Only two other coaches have ever won more, the now retired Dr. Phog Allen of Kansas, who had a 771-223 record over 49 years* and E. A. Diddle, now in his 41st season at Western Kentucky, who has a 751-279 mark.
In addition to the Oklahoma State triumph, which stamps the Cowboys as a Big Eight title threat, other major results on a relatively light schedule included Florida's 94-86 victory over Florida State, Army's 61-34 rout of Williams, Denver's easy 71-58 conquest of Air Force and unbeaten Central Connecticut's 11th straight triumph, an 88-74 decision over American International.

The American League had four 20-game winners last season, led by Yankee Ralph Terry's 23. Dick Donovan of Cleveland, Ray Herbert of the White Sox and Camilo Pascual of the Twins won 20 games each.

Sports In Brief

The New York Yankees have scheduled 26 night games at home during the 1963 baseball season. The champions played 30 home night games in 1961.

Duke's 1962 freshman football team won four of its five games, losing only to North Carolina State, 12-7.

Vic Bubas is in his fourth season as Duke University's basketball coach.

The 103-day Chicago racing season at Arlington-Washington-Baltimore drew 1,579,024 fans who wagered $133,730,539 in 1962.

Barry Shollenberger, 21-year-old pitcher on the roster of the Cincinnati Reds, struck out 226 batters in 183 innings at Waterloo, Iowa, last season.

Charles (Chuck) Medlar, who assisted retiring coach Joe Bedenk for the last 14 years, is now head baseball coach at Penn State.

Pete Kelley, who scored 42 points in five games this season, quit basketball at Harvard to concentrate on his studies. He scored 303 points last season.

Eight players gained more than 100 yards rushing for Syracuse last season. Six of them will be back next fall.

Calumet Farm has won the Widener eight times at Hialeah. Kelso, horse of the year for the last three years, earned $254,555 in 1962. He was the turf's eighth leading money winner of the year.

Longest Big Ten punt return in 1962 was turned in by Paul Krause of Iowa against Michigan. He went 82 yards for a touchdown.

A 90-yard pass play was the longest aerial in the Big Ten in 1962. Mike Taliaferro threw it to Mike Yavorski of Illinois for a TD against Ohio State.

Luke George of Indiana kicked the longest Big Ten field goal last season. It went 43 yards against Iowa.

Best Big Ten punt of 1962 went for 83 yards. It was made by Iowa's Lonnie Rogers against Oregon State.

The Houston Colts will play 29 exhibition games next spring, 12 of them against the Los Angeles Angels.

Jaipur, 3-year-old champion of 1962, won the Gotham Stakes, the Withers, Belmont, Choice and Travers.

Six thoroughbreds earned more than $300,000 in 1962. Never Bend led with $402,969, followed by Jaipur, Prove It, Beau Purple, Carry Back and Ridan.

Rangers, Hawks Tie 3-3 In NHL

Camille Henry and Gump Worsley look about as little like professional athletes as any you're likely to find.

Henry is a gaunt, almost frail-appearing wing. Worsley is a round little goalie with a Santa Claus stomach. Each makes his living with the New York Rangers.

Between them they brought the Rangers one of the most welcome ties in their National Hockey League history Wednesday night, a 3-3 affair with Chicago.

The tie represents the first point New York has picked up in 10 meetings with the league-leading Black Hawks, who had scored nine straight victories over the Rangers this season.

Even with the tie, Chicago managed to expand its league leading margin to three points when second-place Montreal fell before Toronto 5-1 in the only other game scheduled Wednesday.

The Black Hawks seemed well on their way to another rout of the Rangers going into the third period. They had a 3-1 lead before Henry popped in two last-period goals.

Only Worsley's spectacular efforts in the New York goal preserved it, however. He came up with a total of 52 saves.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, Jan. 24, the 24th day of 1963. There are 341 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this day in 1848, James Marshall discovered gold in California while building a sawmill on the American River. It was an accidental discovery from which Marshall profited little and he died broke seven years later.

On this day:
In 1639, colonists adopted the Fundamental Orders of Connecticut.

In 1830, Venice was declared a free port.

In 1903, the United States and Great Britain signed a treaty providing for a mixed commission to settle the Alaskan boundary dispute.

In 1944, U. S. Army and Navy bombers delivered a pre-invasion attack against Kawajalein Atoll in the Pacific during World War II.

In 1956, the United States asserted that any nation really wanting to outlaw war would approve President Dwight D. Eisenhower's aerial inspection plan.

Today's birthdays:

Actor Ernest Borgnine is 46. Ballerina Maria Tallchief is 38.

Thought for today:
Guns are left to do what words might have done earlier, properly used—John Waller.

CITY TO BORROW ON TAX

LOVELAND, Ohio (AP)—This city of 5,000 which recently adopted an income tax for its residents wants to borrow $10,000 against receipts from the new tax.

Council voted to borrow the money Wednesday night to meet expenses occasioned by the tax ordinance. The 1 per cent tax became effective Jan. 1, but the first collections won't be until April.

Convicted Killer Of 2 Warren Men Taken to Detroit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thomas Viola, 50, notorious gangland triggerman now serving a life sentence for murder in Ohio Penitentiary, is being released from the penitentiary into custody of federal marshals from Detroit.

Viola is to be returned to Detroit today but federal authorities have not disclosed the reason.

Viola was convicted in the March 24, 1941 double slaying of James Munsene, Warren, Ohio, restaurant man and the latter's nephew, Felix Monfrinto.

He escaped from the penitentiary while a trusty on Sept. 22, 1960, and picked up by FBI agents April 19, 1961, while being on the "most wanted" list. He was heavily armed and carried $4,116 in cash when arrested. At the time he said he got the cash in gambling.

Ohio officials assumed that he was wanted in Detroit in connection with his former activities there. He was widely known in gangster circles in Cleveland and Buffalo as well as Detroit.

AGAINST SUNDAY LAW

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—City Manager Charles W. Thompson says he is against a widespread crackdown on Sunday closing law violators because he feels the 131-year-old laws are outmoded.

Thompson told City Council Wednesday night he would not advise the police to crack down on violators until the blue laws are clarified by the General Assembly.

BACK TO A DESK—Lt. Charles Suneson, who joined the Navy recruiting office in Columbus, Ohio, is somewhat of an oddity in the Navy. She is the first—and only Wave to serve as a line officer aboard a Navy vessel. The native of Chicago came to Columbus from her tour of duty aboard the transport ship General Mann. She spent a year aboard the ship in the Pacific.

Newspapers make a big difference in people's lives . . .

People who lead vital, dynamic lives mesh their thinking and activities into the whirring gears of today's social, economic and political machinery.

To stay in gear, they need all the help and information they can get. Most of it they get from newspapers . . . the only news medium which puts information in their hands in a retainable form to be read and digested when they need it and have time for it.

To be of genuine importance to people, newspapers must be free. No peoples are free where the press is gagged. So, it makes a big difference in people's lives whether or not their newspapers are free.

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to people whether the cold war is warming up, whether we are losing or winning the space race . . . newspapers bring people the truth.

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to home owners whether taxes go up or down, whether fire and police protection is adequate . . . newspapers keep them informed.

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to investors whether prices of securities go up or down, whether business is good, employment up or down . . . newspapers provide this news regularly.

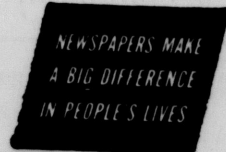

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to housewives whether or not they get the most for their money when they shop for food, furniture or fashions . . . newspapers help them to shop intelligently.

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to sports fans whether their favorite teams win or lose, where and when fishing's best. They find out in their newspapers.

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to women what the latest fashion news is from Paris and Hollywood . . . their newspapers tell them.

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE to merchants whether or not customers are attracted to their stores . . . they use newspaper advertising to make this happen.

Newspapers make a big difference in the lives of everyone because

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

I am sitting back here in the corner in the dining room trying to write some articles for this comic page. A couple from North Lima came over and told me how wonderful their steak dinners were. They said ours was the only place they could get his mother to eat steaks.

Before they left a Columbiana couple came up with the same story. They liked the relaxing atmosphere, the lighting effects, the low price and their grocery shopping trip here is so enjoyable. A third comes over and tells me how fine their steaks were. They were from East Palestine. 3 out of 3, that's a good average.

Gerontocracy Rules Free Europe

Changes Loom As Eventuality

Older Men May Have to Step Aside

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA — While never before younger in its outlook and ideas, Europe today is ruled by men who have one foot in the grave.
This is the great paradox of politics on this side of the Atlantic and it is a major factor in the mounting troubles over membership of the Common market and the role of the North Atlantic Organization.
Gerontocracy, it is called in some circles, the "rule of ancient men." In order of their seniority they are:
Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 87; Portugal's Premier Antonio Salazar, 73; France's President Charles de Gaulle, 72; Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco, 71, and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, 69.

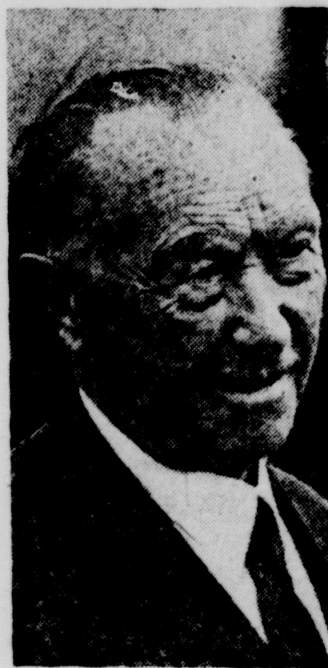

ALL ARE PAST THE AGE when they might be expected to lay down the burdens of office. Their durability is perhaps explained when one considers their possible successors. The gerontocrats appear like giants alongside the pygmies who may replace them.
"Nothing grows in the shade of a tall tree," is a French proverb whose validity is proven by a comparison between De Gaulle and the two premiers who have served him, Michel Debre and George Pompidou.

IN 1963, DE GAULLE casts a longer shadow over Europe than ever before. Domestically, he has dealt his enemies, the old-line politicians, a mortal blow by securing the first absolute parliamentary majority in the history of the French Republic.
Internationally, he is successfully blocking Britain from becoming a member of the European Economic Community, which younger Europeans regard as the forerunner of a European political community. De Gaulle has turned France away from her ally in two world wars, Britain, to close ties with her enemy in those conflicts, Germany.

Ironically, the seed for trouble in this Franco-German rapprochement is the German feeling that Britain must be permitted to join EEC. The feeling is strong among the Bonn politicians who are likely to succeed Adenauer.

Economics minister Ludwig Erhard is the front runner. Der Alte, "the old one," has announced he will retire in 1963, but he is the wildest politician of them all, capable of many last minute surprises. Europe will believe that he has really gone when his successor is sworn into office.

IN BRITAIN, Macmillan is fight-

ADENAUER

MACMILLAN

ing for his political life. His fate and that of the Conservative Party which he has led for six years hang upon the successful outcome of the Common Market negotiations.

The recent death of Hugh Gait-skill undoubtedly will have some effect on the future of British politics.

As for the Iberian dictators, Salazar and Franco, neither has designated his successor. Franco has flirted furiously with the monarchists, leading many to believe that he favors Prince Carlos, the grandson of Spain's last Bourbon king. But when Franco goes the political chaos may be so great as to sweep all — Falangists, monarchists, Catholic traditionalists — with it.

In 1962 representative democracy took a bad beating in Europe, in the eyes of many observers. It remains to be seen whether this trend continues.

Can France, for example, evolve a two-party system similar to the ones which work successfully in the United States and Britain?

A return to the multi-party system is out of the question, but by wiping out the old parties of the extreme right and many of those near the center, De Gaulle also created the classic conditions for the formation restrictive Europe with an anti-British, protectionist outlook.

What of Western Europe's ability to defend herself? Here again the 1963 picture is one of disarray.

Neither France nor Britain has fulfilled its NATO commitments. The British Army of the Rhine is under-strength. De Gaulle has refused to return to NATO the two divisions that he withdrew for use in the Algerian war. He will not allow the U.S. to store nuclear weapons on French soil.

More ominous still, there is no agreement between the United States and its European allies as to relevant political policies and military strategy for the defense of Europe.

European leaders appear to have drawn the wrong lessons from the Cuban crisis. Above all, they have failed to realize that operational control of nuclear weapons cannot be shared. A British defense expert explained it thus to me:

"There are now only two nuclear heavyweights in the ring, the United States and Soviet Russia. But the politicians act as though it were one of those phony three-a-side fights that you see on television."

The Nassau decision to substitute Polaris subs for the Skybolt missile was greeted by cat-calls here in Britain. America was immediately accused of selling her Atlantic partner down the river.

De Gaulle is going ahead with his plans to give France an independent nuclear deterrent, although the cost will be astronomical.

THIS YEAR MARKS the decisive stage in De Gaulle's program to revolutionize France's defenses. At some time during the next 12 months, the French Air Force will begin to take delivery of the 50 Mirage IV supersonic bombers, each equipped with two atom bombs. The bombs may be of relatively low yield, but the yield is sufficient to boost French egos.

With America's European allies pulling each in a different direction, President Kennedy's decision to exert strong leadership even at the cost of America being less well loved is welcomed in responsible quarters here.

ANSWERING CHARGES of "arrogance" that have been leveled against President Kennedy, The Times of London pictures him as a leader who is "looking ahead to a genuine partnership with a united Europe sharing burdens and responsibilities.

"It looks, and is, an unequal partnership at present because the distribution of power is unequal," the Times editorial continues. "The United States is only just beginning to shed its role as sole banker and defender of the western world."

"The West has also just reached an awkward phase in which generation of leaders o bring national policies and national defense systems are becoming out of date while common policies are still out of reach."

It may take a new—and young—those common policies into reach and reality.
